BAZZANO HUNT TRAPS 14 AS MURDER RING SUSPECTS

A Baby Most Welcome.
Well Done and Nobly.
Bourbons Never Learn.
Honor for Japan.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMEON, Cal., Aug. 17.

THE ARRIVAL of a Lindbergh baby boy is good news for the whole world.

Nothing can ever wipe out the sorrow and disgrace of the dreadful kidnaping tragedy, but it is a comfort to know that this little boy will bring comfort to his brave mother and to his father, who has conferred so much honor on his country.

It is reported that the child will be named in memory of his grandfather, the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow.

CALIFORNIA does things well, and successfully. The Olympiad is part of the past. Los Angeles did everything nobly and generously, and knows that it pays to do things well. With all bills paid, "surplus receipts" will be devoted to retiring state bonds, issued to guarantee success for the games. California taxpayers will thus save about one million dollars.

SAVING anything for taxpayers is quite unusual.

A STRANGE story from Paris warns all elderly men of 62 and over to select temperamental female friends cautiously, if at all.

Police found Prince Edward De Bourbon, with his throat cut, dead. He was sixty-two. The lady, Candelaria Brausoler, Spanish, was surprised, and told the police:

"The quarrel was trivial. I killed him in a blind rage, and slashed him only twice."

When a Spanish lady, in a rage, slashes twice, that is enough. This incident proves again that "the Bourbons never learn anything."

LIEUTENANT Baron Takeichi Nishi, who won the Olympic Prix des Nations with his marvelous jumping horse Uranus, taking the nineteen difficult and dangerous jumps in perfect unhesitating form, is pleased, as are his associates from Japan, with their experience in Los Angeles.

They were sincerely applauded, none more heartily, on their numerous winnings. And when a Japanese finished doggedly the grinding race of 5,000 meters, although hopelessly last, the applause was greater than for any winner. To keep on in the face of sure defeat is real greatness.

THOSE THAT think of Japanese horsemanship as something associated with tiny, long-maned ponies, should have seen Uranus fly the high jumps. Others that think good horses and noble Nordics necessarily go together, will be surprised to learn that Uranus was bred in Italy.

Baron Nishi, one of the richest men in Japan, bought him to win, trained him in Tokio, did win and thanks California with a "ban-banzai."

One plain "banzai" means wishing you ten thousand years of happiness. A "ban-banzai" means one thousand banzais.

This Olympiad has proved to Japan, if proof were necessary, that this nation has only admiration for Japan's courage and ability, and friendship for the Japanese.

INTERESTING things in this part of the world, on the Pacific's edge, where distances are counted in thousands of miles and land in tens of thousands of acres.

On the Summers' ranch, near here, are rocks, acres of them that constantly give out fierce heat. You could not hold one of the rocks in your bare hands. The state government has built a fire lane around the heat zone, to protect neighboring forests and ranches.

NO ONE KNOWS what causes the intense, permanent heat. It is not a new volcano working its way to the surface, but probably some queer chemical action that science could explain.

Marcus L. Waltz, able publisher of "The Cambrian," of Cambria, Cal., can tell you all about the rocks. His newspaper tells you, also, that California babies are robust. Read this:

"A collision between two cars, south of the bridge on Lee street, threw the baby of Mrs. George Cuthbert through the windshield. The baby received several cuts, but apparently no serious injury. Dr. Lowell did the repair work on the child."

An effete Eastern baby would have been beyond the help of any repair work."

HITLER, chief of Germany's Nazis, modestly demands of Von Hindenburg and all Germany, "power in Germany equal to that of Mussolini in Italy."

Old-fashioned Germans will remind Hitler that power such as Mussolini possesses must be earned, won. It is never handed out on a silver platter, ready to wear.

Bismarck had great power in Germany, and created the empire. But he attained his position by working for it.

YOUNG LADY "co-eds" at the Los Angeles University of California may smoke, if they choose, without concealment. One student clubhouse will be smoking headquarters, but there will be no restriction anywhere. A wise decision.

If you think smoking harmless for women, and the next generation which they must create, by all means let them smoke. If you think nicotine, absorbed by young women, injures them and handicaps their babies, do not compel them to conceal their smoking. Prohibition has taught us that concealment is an added attraction. It has also taught many young women to drink cocktails and other alcoholic poisons. On the whole, it would be a good thing if drinking women would reach

HARVEY BOLT FROM COX SCORED

Liberty Group Assailed By Keynoter; Storm Halts Convention

By DAVE JONES
Staff Correspondent.

CREVE COEUR SPEEDWAY, ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—Col. William Hope (Coin) Harvey's Liberty party, which bolted the Jobless-Liberty party convention over the religious issue, was labeled bigotists by Attorney Henry Ellenbogen in his keynote address to the Jobless convention shortly before noon today.

Referring to last night's stormy caucus at which the Harvey forces decided to go before the voters alone, Attorney Ellenbogen said:

"At a time when our every thought is concentrated upon providing food for our people, a group of men, misleadingly called the Liberty party, have raised the religious issue. They would judge men by whether they profess the Protestant, Catholic or Jewish religion. When a man is hungry or in need, we never ask him his creed.

SEES CAUSE AIDED

"I know America will resent the raising of the religious issue. Thousands upon thousands who might have been indifferent or even hostile to our party before, will now rally to our banners, disgusted with the tactics of men who are not devoted to liberty, but to bigotry, hatred and prejudice."

Shortly before Ellenbogen concluded a heavy wind and rain storm swept down upon the speedway and caused the postponement of the convention until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. As Ellenbogen spoke the appearance of the storm clouds acted as a signal to those assembled in the stands to leave.

During the recess a meeting of the Jobless Party platform convention will be held. The platform committee is headed by William Kane, of Cresson, a former member of the Liberal Party. Other members are Earn Dean

'OTHER WOMAN' HID IN CLOSET

Testimony concerning a pajama-clad young woman who hid in a clothes closet in the William Penn Hotel, figured today in the hearing of the divorce suit of Mrs. Angelica Schuyler Freeman, society matron of Sewickley, against H. Raymond Freeman, Jr.

Attorney Charles Patterson testified he had been retained by Mrs. Freeman to investigate a report that her husband was living in the hotel with Betty Eugene Reed, later named as co-respondent.

According to Patterson, when he entered Freeman's room in the hotel, April 17, Freeman was under the influence of liquor. Asked if there was a woman in the room he replied "Yes," whereupon Miss Reed emerged.

Judge Thomas M. Reed reserved decision.

Near-Beer Explosion Showers Lunchers

A shower of pie, catsup and near-beer scattered 10 customers and four waiters in the Golden Rail, 402 Smithfield street, when a near-beer barrel exploded under the lunch counter at noon today. The counter trembled as the barrel blew apart. No person was injured.

Fate of Lancaster In Hands of Jury

State Terms Flier's Testimony False In Final Plea

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The case of Capt. W. N. Lancaster, charged with the murder of Haden Clark, went to the jury today.

Testimony of Capt. Lancaster and Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, his former fiancee, was "as carefully planned as this man's steps to plan every detail of the murder of Haden Clarke," State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne told the jury in a final demand for Lancaster's conviction.

The British flier is accused of killing the young writer as the culmination of a love triangle involving Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix and Lancaster's flying partner. The prosecutor said:

"This drama of love, hate, tragedy, chivalry, debauchery and crime would have been settled long ago had we not been operating with legal machinery that was antiquated 300 years ago."

WALKER SCORES IN DEFENSE

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Attempting to counteract the charge in the ouster proceedings against Mayor James J. Walker that the Mayor made no effort to bring the missing accountant, Russell T. Sherwood, back for questioning, John J. Curtin today brought out that Mr. Walker's assistance was not sought by the Hofstadter committee.

With Jacob Gould Schurman, Jr., on the stand, Curtin, Walker's legal adviser, showed that when Sherwood was located at Atlantic City and later at Mexico City, Mr. Walker's aid was not solicited.

Schurman formerly was an assistant to Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter committee. He conducted the investigation of Walker's financial affairs.

Schurman, son of a former ambassador to Germany, testified that Charles Kerrigan, assistant to Mayor Walker, told him the mayor did not expect that Sherwood would be found. The conversation with Kerrigan was before a subpena was issued last August and while Mr. Walker was in Europe.

Kerrigan promised to assist the committee in reaching Sherwood, Schurman said. Curtin introduced records to show that the New York police department asked the Atlantic City police to check on Sherwood's presence, and that Schurman asked the New York officers to make no effort to serve the subpena until Sherwood returned to New York.

SALES TAX ADOPTED BY HOUSE

Relief Bill's Passage In Senate Assured; Pinchot Approves

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The House of Representatives today approved a 1 per cent general sales tax to raise from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 in six months to finance relief for the state's estimated 1,150,000 jobless.

The House action, followed by a vote to adjourn finally Friday, was accepted as a guarantee of the immediate enactment of the bill.

The Republican organization which threw its House strength almost solidly behind the measure holds a controlling majority in the Senate and Gov. Gifford Pinchot, Republican independent, has announced he will sign it at once.

The bill providing the levy was passed at the climax of an eight weeks' fight between the legislators and Gov. Gifford Pinchot on unemployment relief and state economies. It was sponsored by Representative Louis Hagmaier, of Allegheny County.

The vote was 123 in favor to 61 against final passage.

The Allegheny County delegation voted as follows:

For the bill—Bell, Dunn, Dwyer, Gangloff, Hagmaier, Hoffman, Lynch, Maloney, Metzler, Neely, Reed, Rhodes, Spann, Stadtlander, Steedle and Tucker—16.

Against the bill—Goehring, McClure, Riddle, Rooney, Soffel, Storer and Wettach—7.

PAID BY DEALERS

The tax will be paid by dealers on all sales except those of farmers selling direct to consumers. It will be collected by the State Department of Revenue and the tax for the period, September 1 to February 28, 1933, is payable by April 1, 1933.

Philadelphia support of the tax, for several days the major uncertainty which surrounded advance discussion of the measure's prospects, was assured early in the debate.

Representative Clinton Sowers, Philadelphia, declared the inability of the legislators to agree on any other tax measure to raise the revenue required for the Talbot $12,000,000 direct relief bill now in the Senate, made it necessary to break the deadlock by voting for the Hagmaier proposal.

SOWERS APPLAUDED

He was applauded as he announced that the Philadelphia delegation of 41 would support the bill to give the rest of the state some measure of relief since the Legislature had already given Philadelphia an opportunity to aid its own destitute. He referred to the enactment earlier in the session of the Sterling bill which empowered Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to levy special taxes for relief on items which the state can but does not tax.

'Red' Nursery Fire Kills 50 Children

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—More than 50 children and several firemen were burned to death in a fire which destroyed 58 wooden barracks adjoining a new ball-bearing factory on the outskirts of Moscow yesterday, according to word received here this afternoon.

The children were trapped in a communal nursery in one of the barracks, erected to house workmen employed in the factory and their families.

Man Believed Dead For Years Returns

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Christian B. Wineland, 58, returned "from the dead" today.

Missing 20 years and declared legally dead by the Blair County Court several years ago, when his father's estate was settled, Wineland arrived at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Umbower, of East Sharpsburg, today for a visit.

OFFICIAL SLAIN IN MINE WAR

BENTON, Ill., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Joe Colbert, recording secretary of the coal mine union local of Orient Mine No. 1, of Franklin County, was shot and killed today by three men in an auto as he was picking mushrooms.

Colbert has been an opponent of the new $5 a day wage scale agreement. He was chairman of the meeting held last Sunday at which a statewide strike of miners was advocated in answer to the signing of the new wage agreement.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Mrs. Clyde E. Mose, wife of a miner, was shot and wounded today by Sheriff's deputies guarding Christian County highways against a threatened invasion of striking coal miners from downstate and Springfield. The shot barely missed her husband and daughter in an auto with her.

MEN HELD ON HOMICIDE CHARGES DENIED BAIL; 4 PITTSBURGHERS

The search for the slayers of the slaughtered John Bazzano, reputed boss of the massacred Volpe brothers, today landed 14 men behind the bars in New York City, all held without bail on charges of homicide.

Four of the 14 were Pittsburghers and New York police described them all as suspects in a national murder syndicate. But there was nothing proved definitely against the four.

They were arrested last night in hotels and other resorts. The Pittsburghers were listed as:

Michael Bua, 208 South Atlantic avenue, East End.
Carl Sparlino, suspect in two Pittsburgh murders.
Michael Russo, Fifth avenue, Soho.
Frank Adrano, Washington street.

ARRESTS BALK MEETING

Over the telephone from New York, Capt. McGowan, in charge of the arresting officers, told the Sun-Telegraph the 14 were to have met last night in a secret session. But the arrests interfered with this program. McGowan declared:

"They will all be arraigned in court Friday and I am confident we have enough to hold them. I think the murder of Bazzano and the Volpe brothers were hooked up together, but we have not been able to get much yet on the Volpe job."

Bazzano was found stabbed and trussed in a potato bag in a dark, narrow Brooklyn street last week, several days after Johnny, Arthur and Jim Volpe had been murdered in Bazzano's Wylie avenue coffee shop. Pittsburgh homicide detectives appear satisfied that Bazzano ordered the Volpes killed for "muscling" into the booze racket with reduced prices.

PLAN TO SEARCH HOMES

Friends of Bua said they were shocked to hear of his arrest. For 18 years he has been associated with the leather firm of Peterson and Chiavetta in Sixth avenue. Anthony Chiavetta, in whose home he lives, is a brother-in-law.

Carl Sparlino has been suspected but freed in two Pittsburgh gangland murders—that of "Big Louis" Lamendola, Hill district racketeer, and John Daniels, slain at Fourteenth street and Liberty avenue in 1929. In Federal Court in 1929 Sparlino was convicted of violating the liquor laws.

Two women also were arrested with the 14 men last night, but Capt. McGowan said he had later ordered their release.

In Pittsburgh, Lieut. Frank Ferris, of the Homicide Squad, ordered his sleuths to ransack the homes of the Pittsburghers arrested.

Deserted Mother Awaits Deportation

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Apparently deserted by her husband, Mrs. Gladys Swain, 23, nee Winstanley, daughter of a retired British army officer, plans to leave Tulsa this week with her infant daughter for deportation to Aberdeen, Scotland, her home.

Mrs. Swain has been in the states two years. In Massachusetts she married J. H. Swain, who became a racing car driver and stunt flier after he lost his fortune.

'Swell Dinner' Led Police to Round Up 14

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—It was going to be a swell dinner.

The groceries would be excellent, and as for the drinks—in addition to whisky, gin and beer, cases of Chianti, Muscato, Lachryma de Christi and French champagne were already stored in a suite upstairs. There were bottles of biscuit de Boucher, and for those who liked the robust fumes of absinthe, Pernod Fils was available.

Covers were to be laid for 20. Two of the 20 were reputed to be the slayers of John Bazzano, of Pittsburgh. The dinner was advertised as a celebration to rejoice at the Pittsburgher's demise.

Festivities were to continue with wine running freely and a bevy of girls to help cheer up these tired business men who were honoring two of their number.

But now the belle piaso and the cammembert are wilting and the wine is waiting forlornly. The lasagne and the veal languishes in the kitchen and the gay spirit of good fellowship which was to fill the hotel has been replaced by the truculence of the police.

Fourteen men, most of whom were to have been present at the dinner, are now in cells charged

Gems Stolen On Train Here

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Theft of $90,000 in diamonds from his trunk on a train between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati was reported to police today by Josh F. Crohn, New York, salesman for a New York diamond brokerage firm. Crohn said he discovered the robbery when he opened his trunk at his hotel here this morning. Instead of jewels, he found only a package of women's apparel, he said.

Man Near Death After Joke in Well

CHARLEROI, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Ralph Gorosky, 49, lowered himself by means of a ladder and rope into a well yesterday. A jokester cut the rope. The ladder fell, striking Gorosky on the head. He is dying in a hospital here.

Prince Lubomirski Dies at Carlsbad

CARLSBAD, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 17.—Prince Stanislaus Lubomirski, Polish industrialist, died suddenly shortly after arriving at the health resort here.

Lindys to Take New Son To Hopewell Home

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—As soon as Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh recovers sufficiently, Col. Lindbergh will take her and their second son, born yesterday, to their Hopewell home, scene of the kidnaping of their first child, according to reports circulating from the home today.

It was said the Colonel will spend at least a month there with his family before winter sets in.

Col. Lindbergh's own appeal that his child be saved from the fierce blast of publicity which he believed largely responsible for the kidnaping and death of his first son, served only to restrain the public exhibition of joy and interest felt in the event.

Especially keen, since the first announcement that the child weighed six pounds 11 ounces, and both mother and child were doing well, was the interest in the name the boy would be given.

The birth certificate was not to be filed for four or five days, but there was a report the baby would be named after its famous grandfather, the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, father of Anne Morrow Lindbergh, who so bravely went through the tragedy that robbed her of her first-born son, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

G. O. P. DEMANDS STATE INQUIRY AIMED AT PINCHOT

REVENGE ACTION FOR WAR ON P. S. C. SEEN

Enemies of Governor Checked, But Insist On Pressing Issue

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—A resolution for a "Lexow" investigation of the state government has been prepared by Senators affiliated with the regular Republican organization.

Whether it will be introduced is a debatable question today. Some militant anti-Pinchot members of the upper House insisted upon putting it in last night, but were dissuaded by such cooler heads as Senator Harry B. Scott, of Center County.

REBELS INSISTENT

Checked for the moment, the rebel group renewed insistence today upon their demands for consideration of the resolution and its adoption. If again rebuffed, they will continue to demand its approval, and will try to force action tomorrow. State Chairman Edward Martin has been appealed to as an arbiter of the issue, between the conservative and ruckus-raising groups, and has as yet rendered no decision.

The resolution is a broad document. Under its terms the Senate, through a committee, would be empowered to investigate any angle of the state government. It would permit a thorough probe of charges that highway employment has been allotted on a basis of political preference. It would go into charges that in the last primary the state payroll in the Fifteenth Congressional district, where Mrs. Pinchot was a candidate against Congressman Louis T. McFadden, was loaded in the interests of the Governor's wife.

HINES' CHARGES

Allegations by Lewis G. Hines, of Philadelphia, United States Employment Director of Pennsylvania, that road jobs are awarded on a political basis would be given a deeper examination that occurred yesterday when Hines appeared before a House committee to charge favoritism by the Pinchot administration.

Charges that a "bonding racket" exists on Capitol Hill, that bonds of state officials and contractors getting state awards must be placed with a favored firm, approved by the Governor's office, would be delved into. This is one of the primary aims of those promoting the resolution.

As a sop, and to endeavor to avert suspicion that the resolution is aimed only at the Governor, a provision is inserted that legislative practices and costs shall be examined, and the Auditor General's and State Treasurer's departments would be embraced in the resolution's scope.

Despite the side issues it is admitted by the resolution's proponents that the Governor and a few of his closest aides are the real targets of the inquiry, and the probe is intended as a rebuttal to the Governor's insistence upon an inquiry into the Public Service Commission.

Controversy over the resolution has brought a real fight within the organization, and the more conservative wing of the regular faction is beset today in an effort to sidetrack the firebrands.

BALK RELEASE IN POISON CASE

The efforts of Mrs. Anna Allas and Mrs. Mary Chalfa, charged with murder in the so-called Munhall poison plot, to leave the county jail were frustrated today.

Just before their hearing before Judge George V. Moore on habeas corpus proceedings, county detectives filed information before Alderman Thomas Flanigan charging murder. If the women are released on the Coroner's commitments, on which they are being held, then the alderman's informations will be brought into play.

They are accused in connection with the alleged poisoning of Andrew Allas, 16, and his brother, Stephen, 12.

Socialists Adopt Plank for Repeal

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—By a two to one vote in a referendum of its membership, the Socialist Party of America has adopted a prohibition repeal plank as part of its national platform, it was announced here today by Clarence Senior, national secretary.

The plank was adopted by delegates to the party's national convention in Milwaukee in May, but a referendum was demanded.

300 Steel Workers Get Full-Time Jobs

Approximately 300 employes of the Wood's Mill plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, at McKeesport, heretofore employed part time, will be given full-time employment with the resumption today of five departments of the plant on a full-capacity basis.

Jobless Denounce 'Selfish' Assembly

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Bitter criticism of the State Legislature, now in special session to provide unemployment relief, is voiced in a resolution adopted last night at a gathering of jobless persons over which John J. McDevitt, brother of Judge Harry S. McDevitt, presided.

The resolution denounced the legislators for playing "selfish politics."

Woman Faces Charge In Barbecue Dry Raid

Mrs. Grace Forney was to be arraigned before the United States Commissioner today, according to prohibition agents who reported arresting her in a raid on the Old Tavern barbecue in the Noblestown road. Agents said they confiscated 50 gallons of beer. James Younkas was arrested in a raid at 48 Twentieth street, according to the agents, who reported finding beer and wine when they raided the place.

W. Virginia to Ask $460,000 Relief Loan

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Gov. William G. Conley has been formally requested by the Monongalia County Court to apply to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of $460,000 to be used in meeting relief and unemployment needs.

CLERK TO BARE R. F. C. LOANS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Contrary to the expectations of President Hoover, the clerk of the House intends to make public the details of loans made by the $3,800,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation since July 21.

The corporation's first report on the loans is due to be submitted to Congress this week. South Trimble, House clerk, has written an eight-page brief giving his reasons for interpreting the relief law as making publicity mandatory.

Trimble feels, as do Speaker Garner and Representative Rainey, Democratic leader, that he has no choice. He disagrees that further congressional action is necessary.

The publicity provision got the relief bill into a snarl that threatened to prevent adjournment. President Hoover summoned leaders of both parties to the White House to ask that the publicity phase be omitted.

Price Sees War For U. S. Within Thirty Years

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—America will have another war within the next 25 or 30 years.

The backbone of the armies will be the old doughboy—the infantry soldier.

These conclusions were reached today by Maj. Gen. William G. Price, Jr., commander of the 28th Division, Pennsylvania National Guard. He is winding up his last summer of field duty in uniform, as he reaches the age of retirement next March.

SENATE UTILITY INVESTIGATION ASSURED

O. K. Eaton May Serve As Counsel; Harris Plan Sidetracked

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—A Pittsburgh attorney—Oliver K. Eaton—will be invited to serve as counsel for the Senate committee investigating the Public Service Commission and its relations with public utilities, it was indicated today.

Senator William S. Rial, chairman of the committee, which will select its own counsel, frowned on the suggestion of Senator William D. Mansfield that Samuel Seabury, who is conducting the New York proceedings against Mayor James J. Walker, be engaged. Rial declared there was no need to go outside Pennsylvania for counsel and afterward indicated that Eaton would be invited to serve.

INQUIRY CERTAIN

Mansfield made his suggestion at a meeting of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which today favorably reported Rial's resolution authorizing the investigation committee. The resolution, laid over for printing, will be passed tomorrow without controversy.

Adoption of the Rial resolution sidetracked the resolution offered by Senator Frank Harris proposing a Senate inquiry, with Attorney General Schnader acting as the committee's counsel. Gov. Pinchot, too, favored choice of Schnader.

URGES SEABURY

Mansfield urged Seabury's selection on the ground that it would destroy any suspicions that the committee was playing factional politics.

Senator Samuel Salus, of Philadelphia, a member of the committee, who also served with the group named to "try" former Chairman W. D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission, declared against the employment of outside counsel.

Mansfield replied:

"That is one of the very reasons we should employ a man such as Seabury."

There were few fireworks in the committee meeting this morning. Harris insisted upon approval of his resolution, but was voted down by an overwhelming majority.

In the Rial resolution is included a criticism of Gov. Pinchot, alleging he arbitrarily blocked remedial legislation in the last regular session through refusal to approve any changes which did not confer on him the right to hire and fire public service commissioners without approval of the Senate.

An effort was made by some administration senators to have this clause eliminated, but it also failed by a wide margin.

PARTY 'ON SPOT'

After the Rial resolution had been approved, Mansfield said:

"The suspicions touching alleged improper relations between public utilities and the Public Service Commission have put the Republican leaders of Pennsylvania on the spot.

"On the conduct of this inquiry, the composition of the committee and the manner in which it carries on the inquiry, depends not only the outcome of the election soon to come, but on elections far in the future.

"The Republican party cannot afford to fumble this matter."

Highlights of Cox Army in St. Louis

CREVE COUER SPEEDWAY, ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.

Each Sunday a holiday crowd visits this speedway to witness automobile racing and motorcycle stunt riding. It was anything but a holiday crowd that occupied the large tract last night. Camp fires were lighted and men and women slept on the ground, with blankets or canvas for their beds.

Concessionaires who had entered into contracts with the owners of the speedway, who expected more than 50,000 men and women here, were extremely downhearted. Their temporary stands stacked high with refreshments, they sat idly under the glare of torch lights while a few stragglers moved about making purchases, few and far between.

The French name Creve Couer, translated into English, means "Broken Heart." The story is told that years ago a minor disagreement separated a young man and his sweetheart. Their pride kept them from a reconcilliation and the young woman died of a broken heart. Minor differences have separated the Liberty and Jobless parties and as neither would set aside their demands, they have broken off entirely.

Father Cox paid a midnight visit to two of his followers who were in need of medical attention at the speedway. He found Philip Nelson, 26, lying on the ground in a semi-conscious condition. The young man, whose home is in Jersey City, is believed to have been overcome by the heat. He was removed to the St. Louis County Hospital at Clayton. The priest also visited Francis Walsh, 19, no home, who injured his right leg when he fell from a truck.

The Blue Shirts from Pittsburgh spent a miserable night in the Speedway. The weather was extremely hot, and those unable to sleep walked about most of the night. Many removed their shirts and outer clothing to find relief from the sultry weather.

Approximately 400 men and women were at the Speedway when Father Cox arrived. They immediately complained to him that several water faucets on the grounds had been shut off and that the prices for refreshments were higher than had been advertised. The priest immediately had the water turned on, and the prices were cut in half.

COX KEYNOTER SCORES BOLT OF HARVEY

Parties Hold Separate Conventions; Storm Halts Session

and John J. O'Donnell, Homestead businessmen; Gustave Slemmer, Richmond Heights, Mo.; ... G. Bayster, Dunkirk, N. Y.; Thomas Mason, Elk City, Okla.; Richard Condron, Cresson; Theodore Meyer, Bellaire, O.; A. J. Frankowsky and John Reach, Johnstown; Samuel Nealor, New Kensington, and James A. Hivick, Huntington, W. Va.

PARADE OPENS MEET

A parade of 500 "Blue Shirts" around the speedway opened the convention. They passed in review before Father Cox, in the the grandstand, his right arm at salute. The parade finished, the priest stepped before the microphone and led the assemblage in reciting an oath of allegiance to the flag and the assembly sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

Patrolling the grounds was an augmented guard. In addition to the regular park police, there were 30 deputy sheriffs, a squad of state highway patrolmen and State Health Department police. In another part of the park, Col. Harvey, veteran advocate of free silver, was holding his own convention, already pledged to his nomination as its presidential candidate.

Dr. Victor C. Tisdale, of Elk City, Okla., whose acceptance of the vice presidential nomination was announced by Attorney Austin L. Staley, Cox lieutenant, during the morning, declined the honor this afternoon, according to a telegram from the Southwesterner.

PLATFORM OUTLINED

Ellenbogen, in his keynote address, outlined generally the Jobless Party's platform. It includes the immediate expenditure of $5,000,000,000 by the Federal government for public construction; federal relief for the unemployed; federal control and regulation of public utilities; repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment; increased tax on large incomes; postponement of public improvements in times of prosperity to future depression eras and federal unemployment insurance, health insurance and old age pensions.

Blows were narrowly averted during last night's caucus when Jobless and Liberty parties decided to go their separate ways. The fisticuffs were threatened when Attorney Staley declared Col. Harvey months ago had agreed to step aside in favor of Father Cox. The 80-year-old Arkansan was on his feet instantly, branding the statement a falsehood. Harvey opposed the nomination of Father Cox because having a catholic priest as presidential nominee, he said, would cause criticism of the party.

Then the convention reassembles late this afternoon, it was expected Attorney Staley would put the name of Father Cox in nomination. It was planned to adjourn immediately after the priest's acceptance.

Gaffney, Tammany 'Mystery Man,' Dies

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—James E. Gaffney, who began his career as a policeman but who ended it as a wealthy contractor, died at his Long Island home this morning at the age of 70. Known as the "mystery man of Tammany," Gaffney was a storm center in New York politics during the days when he was advisor and friend of the late Charles E. Murphy, long the boss of Tammany Hall.

Third-Class Cities Ask Fund for Streets

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—The League of Third Class Cities in Pennsylvania, in annual session here today, adopted a resolution requesting the special session of the Legislature to appropriate $5,000,000 from the motor fund for improvement of streets in second and third class cities.

The delegates adopted another resolution favoring passage of a bill to permit payment of delinquent taxes without penalty.

Divorce Too Slow, 'Ma' Orders Mexican Action

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Unwilling to wait for the outcome of divorce proceedings here, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy Hudson, mother of the Evangelist, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, said today she had authorized Tucson, Ariz., lawyers to start action in Sonora, Mexico, for a quick annulment of her marriage to Guy Edward "What-a-Man" Hudson, Mrs. Hudson said:

"I just can't stand this cheap advertising Mr. Hudson indulged in when he went on the stage in Denver, billing himself as my husband. The whole business is thoroughly disgraceful and I can't stand it any longer."

C. V. Riccardi, of the Tucson legal firm of Riccardi and Aguilar, said annulment proceedings will be started in Sonora within the next few days and that he expects to obtain Mrs. Hudson's freedom in about two weeks. He said the annulment action would be based on allegations that Hudson did not comply with all of the Nevada laws in securing a previous divorce before he married Mrs. Kennedy.

STAGE BEAUTY FOILS SUICIDE PLAN OF STEEL OFFICIAL

CHICAGO 'DATE' AVERTS DEATH AT NIAGARA

Actress Then Prevents Leap From Window; Man in Hospital

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Prevented from committing suicide by an actress friend and private detectives, Carl W. Ohlson, 36, secretary of a Cleveland steel company, was in a Chicago sanitarium today.

His rescue from a self-inflicted death was the successful culmination of a carefully-laid plan paralleling any page out of an exciting detective tale.

Ohlson, reputedly wealthy and an expert metallurgist, recently left Cleveland, bound for Niagara Falls with the intention of ending his life there. Last Saturday his abandoned automobile was discovered near the edge of the falls. In it was found a suicide note.

NOTE FOUND IN CAFE

Alarmed when he was apprised of this development, the president of the Steel-Treating Company, which employed Ohlson, hired Burns detectives who discovered that, before leaving Cleveland, Ohlson had written a note addressed to his beautiful actress friend. The note, found in a match box in a restaurant, asked the actress to telephone Ohlson at a Niagara Falls hotel.

At the request of the private detectives, the actress telephoned the steel company executive and made an appointment to meet him in Chicago. The rendezvous was kept yesterday in Grant Park here. The detectives seized Ohlson and took him to a downtown hotel, where they left him in a room with the actress, who pleaded with him to forego his suicide plans.

AVERTS DEATH LEAP

When Ohlson was about to leap from the hotel window the actress dissuaded him by shouting:

"If you jump, I'll jump, too."

It was then that Ohlson was persuaded to enter a sanitarium. I. R. Harris, a Cleveland attorney, was in Chicago to look after Ohlson's interests. The name of the actress was not divulged. She returned to Cleveland by airplane.

SEEK FIANCE, FEAR VIOLENCE

EBENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Fearing foul play, police are seeking Peter F. Gwizdock, who was to have been married yesterday.

Gwizdock, a West Carroll Township farmer, was wounded in an attempted holdup near Patton in June. He recently left a hospital.

August 8 he went shopping with Mary S. Czernik, clerk in the State Department of Banking, and his intended bride. He disappeared after driving the girl's car away. The machine was found on a side street, the keys under his hat in the front seat.

Elevator Joyriding Boosts City Costs

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 7.—(AP.)—Elevator joyriding in Racine's City Hall is going to be stopped—as an economy measure.

City Council decided last night to restrict the number of rides in the elevator after a committee reported that youths were using it for joyriding and that the electric power bill was more for the lift than it was for all the rest of the building.

Horseman in Church Knocks Over Preacher

BENTON, Ky., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Riding a prancing steed up and down the aisles and knocking over the pulpit as well as the preacher, Bobby Thompson, 20, broke up a church meeting here last night and got himself locked up in jail on a charge of drinking too freely.

Boy, 12, Fatally Shoots Brother, 8

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17.—Leroy Blose, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Blose, of Vintondale, was accidentally shot and fatally wounded this morning by his 12-year-old brother, Gardner, with a revolver he thought was not loaded.

Work to Resume On Mammoth Liner

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—The enlistment of additional workmen for the ground staff of John Brown's shipyard on the Clyde today gave rise to rumors the Cunard Line would soon resume work on its 78,000-ton liner, to be by far the world's largest.

MRS. M'CORMICK MUCH BETTER

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Immediate danger has passed and distinct improvement has been noted in the condition of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, it was reported today.

As a result of this turn for the better, Mrs. McCormick's sister, Mrs. E. Parmelee Prentice, was returning to her New York home today, accompanied by her husband.

Meanwhile, Chicago's "first lady," confined to a sickbed in her Drake Hotel suite, was awaiting the arrival of her youngest daughter, Mrs. Mathilde McCormick Oser. Mrs. Oser, her husband, Max, and their two small children arrived from Switzerland yesterday aboard the liner Majestic.

They spent the night at the Tarreytown estate of Mrs. Oser's grandfather, John D. Rockefeller.

FISHING GOOD, HOOVER STAYS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Fast biting, sportive fish tempted President Hoover into prolonging his Chesapeake Bay fishing trip today after arrangements had been made for his return to the White House.

The nose of the Sequoia, the commerce department inspection boat on which he is traveling, had already been pointed toward Annapolis, where he planned to debark, when the President went out for a final session with the fish in the waters of the upper Chesapeake.

They bit well and his catch was the best of his trip.

Shortly afterward the White House was informed he would prolong his stay and probably would not reach Annapolis until late today. He will motor to the White House from Annapolis and continue to his Rapidan camp either tonight or early tomorrow.

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure persisted over the West for the past several days, while high pressure was dominating the weather over this section. The western low has now developed eastward to the Central Valleys and the high is well out over the Atlantic. As a result of the low pressure there is considerable cloudiness over the eastern half of the country this morning and showers were quite geral over the Central Valleys and in the South, eastward over the Gulf States. Heavy rains occurred as follows: Chattanooga, 1.78 inches; Montgomery, Ala., 1.54; Little Rock and Omaha, 1.14. There was a change to cooler weather over the northern plains, elsewhere temperature changes were unimportant. Maximum temperatures of 90 degrees or higher occurred yesterday over the plains states and as far north as South Dakota, and eastward over the Ohio Valley states to near the coast.

Entangled in Chair, Dies as Home Burns

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Caught fast to a chair by his own clothes, Frank Lazara, 45, died from suffocation early today while trying to escape from his home which was burning. Firemen said Lazara, confused, and dressing in darkness, became so entangled that he was unable to extricate himself.

Tube City Girl to Write Story of Air Cup Race

Helen Richey Guest At White House Tomorrow

Greater Pittsburgh's first licensed girl pilot today was in the two greatest thrills of her 22 years.

Helen Richey, daughter of Superintendent J. B. Richey, of the McKeesport public schools, tomorrow will be a guest at the White House, and Sunday she will start in the Cord Cup race which will finish August 27, as the opening feature of the National Air Races at Cleveland, O.

SUN-TELEGRAPH WRITER

Miss Richey will write her impressions of the President's reception and describe the activity and progress of the race exclusively in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Following a reception by Mr. Hoover for the men and women pilots in attendance at the national aeronautical convention in Washington this week, Miss Richey and the other women pilots will be entertained by Mrs. Hoover at a 5 o'clock reception.

The Cord Cup handicap contest is the most ambitious one she has entered and will be a steady grind for seven days. The contestants will fly from Washington to Winston-Salem, N. C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Abilene, Tex.; Bartlesville, Okla., where they will meet a western section of the race flying from Los Angeles, Cal. From there all planes will head for East St. Louis, Cincinnati and Cleveland.

HOPES TO WIN

Just before taking off for Washington yesterday from Bettis Field, Helen confidently said:

"In a handicap race such as this, it's an equal break for everybody. I have hopes of winning and expect to place, at least."

And her friends are counting on her to do just that because of her past performances.

Four months after her first solo flight at the Curtiss-Wright Flying School, in the summer of 1930, Helen stole the show from a half dozen professional pilots at the dedication of Johnsonburg's airport. Stunting for the first time in her life, she surprised her teachers and thrilled thousands of spectators.

A year later at the first all-women's air meet at Baltimore, Miss Richey was awarded first place in the acrobatic contest.

In November of last year she won a trophy in a women's meet at Lynchburg, Va., and followed it up by winning another cup in a women's air race at Niagara Falls, last month.

Paraguay Renews Attack on Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Another Bolivian observation post has been attacked by Paraguayan forces, according to the Bolivian government today.

The Paraguayans were defeated, a statement said, but only after the post commander had been killed.

BILLIE TO KEEP FOLLIES ALIVE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Any doubt about the future of the Ziegfeld "Follies" had been dispelled today by the announcement of A. C. Blumenthal that the revue would be continued.

Blumenthal, a close friend of the late Florenz Ziegfeld, said he had completed arrangements with the producer's widow, Billie Burke, to continue the "Follies" in her interests.

He said the next edition of the revue would go into rehearsal soon and would "follow the ideals of Mr. Ziegfeld insofar as is possible."

Beverly MacFadden Injured in Crash

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Miss Beverly Macfadden daughter of Bernarr Macfadden, New York publisher, and James Quigley, son of State Senator Richard S. Quigley, of Lock Haven, today were recovering from minor injuries suffered when their car skidded into a bridge abutment.

Quigley was driving the car, which left the road on a sharp curve, late yesterday.

TEACHER HELD WIFE SLAYER

MARSHALL, Ill., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Accused of murdering his wife and then attempting to conceal the crime behind a story of a highway attack by robbers, Hubert C. Moore, 32-year-old high school professor, was held in jail today.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict declaring that the wife, Marjory, met death "by two shots fired from a .25 caliber automatic by Hubert C. Moore."

At the inquest testimony was given tending to show that Moore, a teacher of agriculture in the high school at Robinson, Ill., was the beneficiary of a $5,000 insurance policy held by his wife, a substitute teacher.

Lost Boa Constrictor Found in Pet Shop

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Residents of suburban Upper Darby sighed with relief today upon learning a boa constrictor which had escaped from a pet shop, had been found.

The 10-foot snake, reported A. W. O. L. from its cage Monday, was found yesterday beneath a cold radiator in the pet shop.

'Hollywood Tango' New Dance Rage

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The "Hollywood Tango," popular on the west coast of the United States, was introduced as the feature dance of the coming winter season by Thomas Sheehy, president of the Dancing Masters' Association of America in convention here.

Boy, 13, Makes Solo Trip to Fiji Islands

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—At 13, Hartley de Gerald, is something of a globe trotter. He returned yesterday from a solo trip to the Fiji Islands, bringing a mummified cannibal's head as a present for his mother, Mrs. John de Gerald, wife of a banker.

Nine-year-old Betty Secrist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Secrist, of Harwick, is in Allegheny Valley Hospital today suffering from serious burns received late yesterday when her clothes caught fire while standing beside a bonfire near her home.

DEMANDS VETS' TRIAL BEFORE ELECTION

Counsel for 3 Indicted For Bonus Riot Fights Delay

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Trial before the national election of three veterans indicted here for assaults on policemen during the "bonus riot" of July 28 was demanded today by Jesse C. Duke, counsel for the veterans.

Although District Attorney Leo A. Rover said the veterans would be tried at the October term of District Supreme Court, Duke predicted that federal officials would make an effort to delay the trial until after the election in November.

FINISH FIGHT

Duke, who was retained by the American Civil Liberties Union to defend the three members of the ill-fated Bonus Expeditionary Force, declared he would fight the charges "all the way."

The veterans—Bernard McCoy, John O. Olson and Broadus Faulkner—all face the possibility of heavy prison sentences if they are convicted.

The witnesses who testified before the grand jury were largely members of the police force. Duke plans to call many of the bonus veterans, including Commander Walter W. Waters, in defense of the trio.

Butler Ridicules Story of 'B. E. F.' Dynamite

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa., Aug. 16.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, in a statement today in reply to Representative Royal C. Johnson, of South Dakota, said the only knowledge he had of Communistic influence in the bonus army camp in Washington "came from administration statements to the press." Butler said:

"It does not seem logical to me that, had dynamite, guns and ammunition been found at the veterans' camp, the great honor of making the fact public would have been left to a Congressman. Nor does it seem logical that such an important disclosure would have been ignored in numerous 'white papers' issued by the administration."

Italian Athletes Pelted With Rocks

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—A group of Italian athletes, returning from the Olympic Games at Los Angeles, were pelted with rocks in Juarez, Chih., Mexico, last night by Mexicans who mistook them for "bonus marchers."

Pie Fight Slayer Must Die in Chair

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Ira J. Alder, accused of killing two of his relatives because he didn't get enough pie at a family dinner, and Charles Filmore Davis, Negro, convicted of slaying a deputy sheriff, must die in the electric chair early Friday, Gov. Murray has ruled.

In denying clemency yesterday, the Governor said he had agreed to let 30 citizens witness the execution.

U. S. Girl Tourists Safe In Moscow on Freight

MOSCOW, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Alva Christensen and Mary L. Degive, two girls from Atlanta, Ga., climbed stiffly off a freight car in the railroad yard here today at the end of an adventuresome journey from New York.

They had motored across Europe, intending to make an automobile tour of Russia but they encountered unsurmountable difficulties after penetrating only 200 miles of Russian territory, and had to make the last part of the trip with their car by freight train.

For four days they lived on a flat car with their machine as the train puffed slowly to Moscow. They prepared their meals from their own food supply, using a portable oil stove and sleeping in the automobile. Their first request when they reached here was for a hotel room with a bath.

Man Kills Rival, Wife And Self in Triangle

CANON CITY, Colo., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—How he forced his wife to pen a letter indicating a suicide pact after he had slain her alleged lover, is told in a letter written by Charles F. Lehr, 43, whose body was found beside that of his wife in a swimming pool at the Wellsville Hot Springs Hotel.

William E. Sampson, 53, a partner with the Lehrs in the operation of the hotel, was the third victim.

In the letter Mrs. Lehr, 35, wrote to her mother:

"Sampson is dead. I am sorry for all the trouble I have caused you. Charley is impatient and we are going to the pool in a little while and get it all over with."

Lehr's letter, found yesterday by county officers, told how he waited for two hours while she was writing to her mother, and that she pleaded with him to drown her rather than shoot her. Lehr wrote:

"She now realizes what she has done to me, but it is too late for any forgiveness. I am not taking any chances on being hung for killing old Sampson, although he sure had it coming to him."

The bodies of the Lehrs were found Monday. Both had been shot to death. The pistol was found in the pool. Sampson's body was found in a cabin nearby.

GERMANY FAILS TO CRUSH RIOTS

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Germany's new "speed" courts, authorized by the government to provide swift retribution for rioters, smashed at violence today, but the rioting went on.

A farm woman and two farmers were sentenced to three years at Breslau for heckling at a meeting of Hitler's National Socialists. Two Republicans at Rostock were sentenced to 19 months in jail for beating a Nazi.

In the meantime, two persons were wounded by police in a Communist demonstration here which was one of a series of such affairs throughout the night. Scattered clashes kept the police on the run in Berlin. A number of Nazi cafes were stoned and scores of members of opposing factions arrested.

Two policemen were fired on at Essen while they were searching the home of a Communist for propaganda.

UNEQUAL CUTS IRK WORKERS

Suppressed protest against Mayor Charles H. Kline and his Council favoring themselves in ordering pay cuts, continued growing among city workers today.

While the majority of city employes are slashed two months or more pay, Kline and Council, it is pointed out, sacrifice only a month of each of their larger salaries. Police and firemen lose two months and 16 days—including furloughs without pay.

Feeling is covertly expressed in many quarters that the Councilmen and Mayor should, in justice, cut themselves an added month.

During the next four months city workers will have one week's pay deducted from each month's salary or wages. They already have lost a month's pay.

Men Head List Of U. S. Drownings

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Of the 7,500 victims of drowning recorded yearly in the United States, fully two-thirds are male, a survey by an insurance company revealed today. The death toll from this cause is higher than from any other, except automobile accidents and falls, the report said.

Wheels in Stomach Kill Iowa Cow

MANCHESTER, Ia., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—No wonder Ivan Boone's cow died. A postmortem revealed in one of her four stomachs, springs, cog wheels, wire and enough other material to make a good alarm clock.

WEST END BOY CUT IN FIGHT

Norman Belsterling, 19, of 319 Fingal street, was in South Side Hospital today, a victim of a fight between a dozen whites and Negroes in Alexander street, West End, last night.

Belsterling was slashed with a razor by one of the Negroes, police said. Seventeen stitches were required to close the wound.

The youth told police he and several others were talking in Alexander street when a gang of Negroes approached and engaged in an argument. In the resultant fight Belsterling was cut. The others fled before police arrived.

G. O. P. CLUB PLANS RIDE

The Sixteenth Ward Regular Republican Club will sponsor a boat ride on the steamer Washington tomorrow afternoon and evening. The steamer will leave the foot of Wood street on the afternoon trip at 2 p. m., returning at 6. This trip will be free to children 16 years and under when accompanied by their parents. The moonlight trip will leave about 9 p. m., returning at 11:30.

The committee in charge includes Fred F. Dengler, chairman; Henry Dittmer, Norman C. McCoy, Fred Good, E. J. Moser, Harry Koslowski, Thomas Jones, Michael Gloeckl, Andrew Neidbalski and Joseph Schilling.

SPAIN MAY TAKE REBEL WEALTH

MADRID, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The Spanish National Assembly prepared today to act speedily on Premier Azana's proposal for confiscating the property of Monarchists implicated in last Wednesday's rebellion.

The decree, which provides swift and drastic expropriation of the property of the Monarchists, was expected to be presented some time today to the Assembly by the Premier. As it is drawn, the confiscated property would be turned over to the government for "social purposes."

The Premier announced the decree was drawn in conformity with the constitution, which specifies all properties may be forcibly confiscated without indemnities on agreement of an absolute majority of the members of the Assembly.

CRASH IN RIVER IMPERILS 781

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—A federal investigation was under way today following a near disaster last night when the excursion steamer, City of Memphis, struck a rock and almost sank in the Ohio River here.

A crowd of 748 excursionsists from New Albany, Ind., and the crew of 33 were landed safely as the craft limped to the Kentucky shore, her hull torn open and her stern half submerged.

The ship's officers averted a panic among the passengers. As the steamer smashed against a rock near a dam, the officers ordered the orchestra to keep playing and the calliope broke forth with a lively tune.

In the rush down the gangplank as the boat was moored, three girls were injured.

Woman Dies in Fall From Cellar Steps

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Severing her jugular vein in a fall down the cellar steps—the same steps on which her husband tumbled to his death two months ago—Mrs. Ida Newcomer died last night before physicians arrived.

P. W. Weidner, Banker Noted Mason, Dies

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Perry W. Weidner, 61, banker and international figure in Free Masonry, died last night in a hospital as surgeons were preparing to operate on him.

Police Force Quits After Salary Slash

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—This city of 10,703 inhabitants hasn't any police force.

All members of the department resigned rather than take a monthly reduction in salary of $25, voted by the City Council.

What this country needs is more smiling faces!

If you want to grin right out loud, try this crisp, crunchy breakfast food—Heinz Rice Flakes. Once you discover how good it is, you'll feel that you are the Columbus among food discoverers. And you'll smile . . . smile!

For Heinz Rice Flakes are made from Southern Rice that is toasted to a golden brown to bring out every particle of its fresh, intriguing flavor. Good? You've never tasted a cereal that could compare with it.

And Heinz Rice Flakes will help you keep right on smiling. For they help you obey Nature's first law of perfect health—regularity. They have a gentle regulating effect that comes from the cereal cellulose that is added by an exclusive Heinz process. Heinz Rice Flakes is the only cereal that has this element added—and it contains three times as much of it as you get in prunes or apples. It keeps your system happy, regular as clockwork.

Go to your grocer. Ask for Heinz Rice Flakes—today!

RUSSIA SNAGS EMPIRE PARLEY

By M. GRATTAN O'LEARY
Noted Journalist and Author.

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—An eleventh hour hitch over Russian dumping has held up signature of the Anglo-Canadian trade agreement.

Premier Bennett, backed by his cabinet and powerful Canadian timber interests, decided that the British undertaking to deal with dumping of Russian timber and wheat was not sufficiently effective.

The British proposal was that in the event of complaints being lodged with the British Treasury Board that Russia was cutting prices below cost of production, the British government would investigate and adopt appropriate measures.

In Canadian circles it was hinted that Britain is more concerned with Russian trade than with that of Canada.

WESTERN VETS HONOR MARION

SEATTLE, Aug. 17.—(Universal.)—Keen-eyed men who fought Indians in winning the West have adopted Marion Davies, famous film star, as one of their "buddies" in recognition of her many kindnesses to American war veterans, it was announced last night.

She was elected a member of Gen. Phil Sheridan Camp No. 26, National Indian War Veterans, and given the honorary rank of Colonel at the recent meeting of the camp here, Col. John R. Dean, state commander, revealed today. Miss Davies also holds the honorary rank of Colonel among World War veterans.

Broken Main Halts Philadelphia Cars

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Rail and vehicular traffic was stopped for about an hour today by the breaking of a 20-inch main at Broad street and Washington avenue. A hole 8 feet square was torn in the street, and water poured into the new Broad street subway.

Murder Suspect Gets Bail Lowered

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Dr. William A. O'Brien, Jr., held on murder charges involving the death of his wife by poisoning, has obtained a reduction in the amount of bail demanded for his release from $25,000 to $12,000.

New 'Colonel'

MARION DAVIES

Miss Davies, the film star, "adopted" and made an honorary colonel by the Gen. Phil Sheridan Camp, National Indian War Veterans, at Seattle. It's in appreciation for her many kindnesses to the U. S. war vets.

BANK HOLDUP SUSPECTS HELD

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Garbed as gypsies, a man and two women, one of them 65, are in jail charged with attempting to hold up the Community Savings and Loan Company.

Mrs. Alice Baughman, a clerk, said the women entered the office just before closing time and demanded money. She sounded a buglar alarm and Lawrence Quihlan, working in an adjoining meat market, called police.

The women fled to a waiting automobile and the car roared out of the city.

HUDSON SEAL* FUR COATS

Every Hudson Seal (dyed Muskrat) coat we buy is of Northern skins (thicker, softer). It is infinitely taped to hold its shape, and perfectly joined to resemble one solid piece of soft velvet. It is carefully dyed to retain its rich color. The model is generally exclusive with us. And it has a lining we can guarantee two years. All these make the cost $15-$20 more for the coat.

But, for the very few dollars' difference in price, our exacting specifications make us proud of these coats we have to offer!

American Legion Convention Broadcasts Open Tomorrow With Mayor's Welcome

The state convention of the American Legion, to be held in Pittsburgh from Thursday to Saturday inclusive, will go on the air through the facilities of WCAE when the opening session, including the city's official welcome to the delegates by Mayor Charles H. Kline and the response by Frank A. Kanter, eastern vice commander of the Legion, is broadcast from the Nixon Theater tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. WCAE's regularly scheduled programs are subject to interruption or change at any time during the convention for special broadcasts, it has been announced. . . .

Mayor Kline

WWSW also will broadcast tomorrow morning's session as well as addresses by Watson B. Miller, chairman of the National Rehabilitation Committee at 11:30, and by Commander Richard F. Paul, national vice commander, at noon. The latter address also will be heard on KQV.

Broadcasts of sessions on all three days of the state-wide meeting, including the final one Saturday morning, will be carried by WCAE, climaxed by a complete description of the gala Legion parade from three distinct points as it progresses from the Fifth Avenue High School through downtown Pittsburgh to Ridge and Irwin avenues, North Side, Saturday afternoon.

The summer series of concerts by the Goldman Band from the campus of New York University is concluded with tonight's presentation over an NBC network, including WCAE, at 8:30. The final program is composed of compositions by Wagner, Liszt and Handel.

Program Pointers

Scoville Hamlin, economist and author, discusses "Separation of Tax Sources" when he broadcasts under the auspices of the American Taxpayers' League over an NBC network including KDKA tonight at 8 o'clock . . . A varied program of popular selections, including a special two-piano arrangement of the current hit, "There's Oceans of Love," is presented by the Westinghouse Watchmen—Russell Merritt and Aneurin Bodycombe, pianists; Frederick G. Rodgers, baritone, and Arthur Ray Davis, tenor—on KDKA at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Davis

Johnny Hart's engagement as an entertainer on a liner bound for Nova Scotia on a weekend cruise provides an unusual setting for the "Big Time" program on WCAE at 8. Johnny introduces the Landt Trio and White with Alice Remsen as special entertainers.

More than a half dozen of the favorite old time songs and spirituals of America, including "Billy Boy" and "A Man Rode a Mule Around the World," comprise the Corn Cob Pipe Club program on WCAE at 10.

Ward Wilson adopts the lively broadcasting manner of Walter Winchell at 7:15 on KDKA.

A musical panorama of "Sunny," including all of the hit selections from this outstanding success of the late Florenz Ziegfeld, is presented by Whispering Jack Smith at 10:15 on KDKA.

They're telling a story around the NBC studios of how Mrs. Albert Sackett, Julia Sanderson's mother, was mistaken for her daughter while sitting with Julia in a hotel dining room, and blithely neglected to correct the error for an hour or so, chalking up a lot of fun for one afternoon . . . Gloria Holden, who plays sirenish roles in CBS dramatic productions, and who was last heard in the experimental play, "Transient," hails from the legitimate stage . . . Gene Austin was offered a movie contract if he would reduce, but he turned down the offer after inspecting the proposed diet.

You Can Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach this way

Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—on a full stomach, with never a hungry moment. Thus it is foolish now to stay fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on fats, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.

NIOBE DIVERS NEAR BODIES

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The hulk of the naval training ship Niobe was dragged back to port today with the bodies of 69 cadets who perished when the ship foundered off the coast 22 days ago.

Like the Niobe of mythology, whose children went unburied for 12 days, the hulk lay under water here this morning and divers hoped to reach the bodies and bring them ashore late today.

Parents of the lost youths have been gathering for two days, but they were forced to view the operations from the shores of Heikendorfer Bay, for the public was barred until the bodies have been recovered and identified, and the death list checked.

BEST TO COVER PA. AND OHIO

Attorney William E. Best, of Dormont, recently named on the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, will sound out sentiment of bankers in Pennsylvania and Ohio as to their willingness to subscribe for stock in the proposed banks, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington today. Other members of the board will canvass different states, the location of the 8 to 12 loan banks depending largely on the amount of stock subscribed in the different districts.

Best today announced he had resigned as an examiner of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission.

Right to Carry Gun Asked by Guy Volpe

Guy Volpe, brother of the three slain Volpes, today was trying to obtain a permit to carry a revolver. His permit, recently revoked, he and his attorney, Edward G. Coll, appeared at the Sheriff's office to make the request. When Guy was asked whether Santo Volpe, arrested in New York as a suspect in the Bazzano murder, was a relative, he said he had no relatives other than his immediate family.

'SWELL DINNER' LED TO ARRESTS

DOUBLE CROSS, SAY POLICE

The police say that Bazzano had double crossed New York liquor barons and that they had lured him to New York, murdered him, and then decided to celebrate the occasion by a dinner.

The two actual killers were to be rewarded and then, police say, two others were to be given the assignment of knocking off a New York beer baron who was showing signs of wanting to "buck the organization."

Members of the homicide squad who apprehended the 14 last night refuse to show all of their cards. They say, smilingly, that they have broken the case and that the District Attorney has enough evidence to indict the 14. They add that they are not done yet and that further arrests may be expected.

Capt. McGowan, in command of the squad which did such a night's work, says grimly:

"We have evidence against all of these men. Most of them have police records. One answers closely the description of a man wanted for murder in Cleveland."

RESERVATION LIST IS KEY

It was smart police work that landed the suspects behind bars. Police heard about the celebration which was due to be held tonight, and they found out the names of those who had made reservations at the hotel. By a strange coincidence the police were looking for some of those very men in connection with the Bazzano slaying.

Night clubs, speakeasies, dance halls all gave up their quota of the men who were wanted. They went protesting their innocence and calling loudly for lawyers. The police tossed them into cells and submitted them to an all-night questioning.

There are reports that more than one of the 14 broke down under the "questioning" and confessed the story of the murder ring which would knock off anyone at all—at so much per head.

The murder of John Bazzano is being avenged even though a perfectly good dinner had to be spoiled to do it.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—H. I. Seidman, former Scranton councilman and former state fire marshal, was sentenced to serve one year and a day in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., today by United States Judge Albert L. Watson.

He was convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Col. Butts, Army Author, to Retire

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Col. Edmund L. Butts, author of "Butts' Manual," used for several years as part of the Army's system of physical training, will retire August 31, when he will have reached the statutory age of 64.

REYNOLDS' KIN SCOUTS SUICIDE

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Aug. 17.—Richard J. Reynolds, elder brother of the late Z. Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir shot mysteriously in his North Carolina home, cannot believe that his brother committed suicide.

Reynolds also revealed that he is planning to fly by plane to Miami today, though he previously tried to dodge interviewers by announcing he would continue his homeward trip by ship.

His assertion that he cannot believe Smith committed suicide was made after he had his first glimpse here of American newspapers. After reading full reports of the tragedy in which Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, widow of Smith and former Broadway torch singer, and Ab Walker, Smith's "best friend," must stand trial on murder charges, Reynolds declared:

"I cannot yet believe that Smith is gone. He was my best friend in the world."

NUMBERS ODDS CUT TO 500-1

New low odds—paying 500 to 1 on a 1,000 to 1 gamble, were looked to by numbers racketeers today as possible salvation for their vanishing profits.

Following a meeting of city and county bookers last night, cards distributed by the bookies today announced the new odds. Since the birth of the racket in this district, eight years ago, 600 to 1 has been the prevailing pay.

Comment throughout the city was that the fly-by-night brethren living by cutting into the profits of the more established books would soon raise the odds to the old level, forcing even the more powerful operators to follow suit.

"Oh Yeah? BUT SCIENCE SAYS O.G. IS THE BEST CIGARETTE"

*THE VERDICT OF SCIENCE

This is to certify that in 75 repeated tests made of four leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette by the Calorimeter method . . . it was shown that OLD GOLD is from 112 to 156 B.T.U's. COOLER than the other brands. Careful measurement of the heat of the smoke further confirmed the fact that the smoke of OLD GOLD is definitely cooler.

(Signed)
NEW YORK TESTING LABORATORIES
G. Brinton Jack, Jr., Director

IT'S PRETTY hard to duck away from those tireless cigarette ads. Wherever you go, they're apt to float right up alongside of you and whisper their coaxing claim:

"Mine's Milder!" "Fresher!" "Kinder!"

But how about listening to scientific facts, instead of adjectives?

In 75 laboratory tests* of 4 leading cigarettes checked by scientists of two universities, OLD GOLD was found to be the coolest cigarette, and therefore the most delightful in every way.

OLD GOLD won these tests because it is made of the PUREST and choicest tobacco . . . free of all heat-generating flavorings. That's the "why" of "not a cough in a carload." The "why" of OLD GOLD'S greater taste appeal, and throat-ease.

Average Woman Can Stand Hardships of Career

Is a career worth while—for a woman?

A few years ago, we gals all said it was, and fought for our right to have one; but now that things have got kinda tough outside the home shelter, some of us are singing another tune.

Lois, for instance. She's a business woman herself, but how she wishes she wasn't!

"I know you have always championed the idea that woman had a right to get out into the fight of business, and have 'careers' if they wanted them. But I ask you, what has it got us, in the long run? Nothing, except a lot of worry and nervous strain that we're not fitted for.

HARD STRUGGLE

"There is the woman, for instance, who thought it was such a grand thing to build up a big chain of restaurants and win herself fame and fortune. She thought it was fine—until hard times struck us, and showed what she, and all the best of us smart business women, are up against.

"Now she has had to give up her business and go back home, broke. And she admits that the struggle was too hard—that she should have stayed home in the first place—and she advises the rest of us to stay home where we belong and let the man run the business world.

"I agree with her.

"I'm in business myself; and since I am, I am obliged to go every day into an upset, hysterical world outside my home, where I don't know what is going to happen next, or how long I can keep my head above water. I haven't given up—yet; but I am wishing that I had stayed at home and let my husband run things.

MEN DISAPPROVE

"How much easier it is on those women who never insisted, as I did, on their "right" to go out into the big fight, where they never know how long they're going to hang on, and where men resent their holding jobs or running businesses.

"How fortunate the woman is who has a husband who takes care of her, and how much easier this time would be on all of us if the women were all out of it! The men would have a better chance to get jobs. Thousands of men, who have families to support and nothing to support them with, would have a chance if all we women got out of their way so they could get a foothold—and how much easier it would be on us!

"After 15 years of ups and downs, a lot of success and a lot of failure and worry, I wouldn't advise any girl to go in for business. "LOIS L."

There are many arguments against feminine careers, Lois; some of 'em good, and some of 'em gaga. And during the present bad breaks, it's certainly good sportsmanship for any woman, who doesn't really need her job, to give it to some man who does.

But when it comes to quitting just because it takes grit to hang on—that's quite another story.

If you're just looking for a soft snap, sister, why leave the cradle at all? But if you expect to qualify as a regular, two-fisted human being, why shouldn't you circulate around and tackle the breaks as they come?

CAN STAND GAFF

Of course, you may want to take it easy and let somebody carry all the grief. Who doesn't? That's simple, common, human laziness and cowardice, and if you want to indulge in it, that's your business, lady. But why expect medals?

I'm no advocate of careers for women. Personally, I think home-making and motherhood are the greatest career any woman could possibly have. But I certainly don't believe that femmes should avoid business merely because the going is hard.

The truth is that the average woman can stand the gaff exactly as well as the average man.

She's a fool to stand it unless she has to, but she's a coward to duck it if her place is on the firing line.

She can usually get by with it. It flatters any man to think that he's a sturdy oak to some clinging vine, but 99 out of 100 times the clinging is just another racket.

Of course, no man and mighty few women are going to admit that's true; so bring on your counter offensive, gang, and let's hear you tell me where I'm wrong.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Let Overweight Become a Weight of Woe

There are many disadvantages in weighing too much. To carry too much flesh means lowered resistance to infections and to disease.

Dr. Copeland

Obesity, or overweight, is one of the growing dangers of modern life. We know it, but do nothing about it.

Most persons who are overweight are careless in their eating habits. They eat too frequently, too much and of the wrong things.

In many instances overweight is due to a glandular disturbance. Regardless of what its cause may be, it is important to realize that overweight is abnormal and should be overcome. It is a definite hindrance to good health.

Most of my readers are aware of this fact. They know of many thin persons who rarely succumb to any disease, and of stout individuals who seem susceptible to every ailment.

One of the handicaps of being overweight is the danger of diabetes. Fat people have a marked tendency towards this disease. Although it is encountered in thin individuals, it is more often found in those who are overweight. In Germany during the World War, when the food supply was low, particularly fats and sweets, there was a marked decrease in the number of new cases of diabetes. Overweight individuals lost weight and were unable to get those substances that promote diabetes.

In former years medical students were taught that a person who was "fair, fat and 40" was in danger of gall bladder disease, and it is true that gallstones are much more commonly found in overweight than in underweight persons.

Another abnormality frequently found in the obese is high blood pressure, and when neglected this leads to disturbances of the heart and kidneys.

One may complain of shortness of breath and attribute it to his weight. In reality, it is due to a change in the muscles of the heart. Fatty degeneration of heart muscles is common in those who are markedly overweight, and if neglected may prove very serious.

Surgeons have pointed out that the obese are not likely to stand surgical operations as well as those of normal weight. Many other disadvantages of obesity could be enumerated. Statistics collected by insurance companies show that persons over 40 years of age and 15 per cent below average weight for age and height are the best risks. Those above average weight are considered poor risks, and many insurance companies will not consider their applications.

If you are too fat or much too thin, I would advise you to talk with your doctor. It may be well to have a thorough physical examination to find out whether there is anything fundamentally wrong. Before going on a diet or taking unusual exercises to reduce it is important to find that it is safe. Avoid pills and other doubtful remedies, for it is probable they are worthless and may do more harm than good.

If you are permitted to go on a diet, remember that reducing weight is a difficult, slow process, so do not expect to get rid of extra pounds too rapidly. Bear in mind, too, that rapid loss of weight is dangerous.

Answers to Health Queries

T. L. M. Q.—What causes sleepy spells in the afternoon? (2) What causes a burning feeling in the bottom of the feet?

A.—This may be due to autointoxication. (2) This is probably due to poor circulation. Build up the general health and your circulation will improve.

* * *

M. H. K. Q.—What should a girl of 17, 5 feet 4½ inches tall, weigh? Also a boy, aged 21, 5 feet 9 inches tall? 2. What do you advise for pimples and blackheads?

A. They should weigh, respectively, about 117 and 149 pounds. This is about the average weight for people of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance. 2. Correct your diet and avoid poor elimination. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

* * *

R. A. S. Q.—I have been troubled for six months with gas in my stomach, I also have a fluttering around my heart. What can be the cause of this?

A.—The gastric condition in your system is probably due to the palpitation. For further particulars please send a self-addressed stamped envelope.

* * *

H. V. B. Q.—How can I overcome nervousness?

A.—Try to build up the general health and this will benefit the entire nervous system.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The egg shampoo is a godsend to the gal who has had her hair bleached to such an extent that the shafts have become dry and jutelike. Take six eggs, do a few tips with a fork, add one tablespoonful of cold water. Rinse the hair, apply part of the eggs, friction them in until they foam. Rinse, use more eggs, rinse again with a bath spray and a strong current of water. Pour over the head a quart of water to which the juice of three lemons has been added.

When the cuticle around the finger nails clings persistently to the nail base, get some powdered pumice stone and a small bottle of peroxide. Dip the orange wood stick into the peroxide, then into the pumice, forming a scouring agent that will gently lift the cuticle away from its moorings without causing shreds or abrasions. Don't overlook the good results of a nail cream applied at night. Cold cream will do, or olive oil or lanoline.

Some girls cultivate a yen for messing round with home made cosmetics. We offer them a priceless recipe for a heavy massage cream, designed to combat wrinkles: melt together one-half ounce of white wax, one-half ounce of spermaceti, one ounce of lanoline, two ounces of oil of sweet almonds; remove from heat, add one ounce of orange flower water, fluff with egg beater until creamy, pour into jars.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Daring Double

A few weeks ago, there was played at Deal, N. J., a match between a team captained by Mr. P. Hal Sims, representing the Deal (N. J.) Club, and a team captained by Mr. Raymond Balfe, representing the Cavendish Club, New York. Mr. Sims' team is well known to Contract players everywhere. Mr. Balfe and his associates are also well known as players of the first rank.

Mr. Balfe, among those who play with him frequently, is known as a very daring user of the Penalty Double, particularly of suit bids of one. By his daring use of this weapon, he has frequently inflicted severe penalties upon his opponents, even though with such a two-edged sword, he has occasionally found his opponents making their contract with overtricks.

A good example of his daring is presented in the hand below:

East—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

	♠ A Q ♡ K J 3 ◇ A J 10 7 2 ♣ A K Q
♠ 8 5 2 ♡ A 10 9 5 ◇ 4 3 ♣ 6 5 4 2	North West East South	♠ K 4 ♡ 8 7 4 ◇ K Q 9 8 5 ♣ 10 9 3
	♠ J 10 9 7 6 3 ♡ Q 6 2 ◇ 6 ♣ J 8 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
			Pass (1)
Pass	1 ♣ (2)	1 ♡ (3)	Double (4)
Pass	Pass (5)	Pass

(1) Mr. Balfe holds the honor trick strength for an Opening bid, but the distribution is extremely barren.

(2) Mr. Mattheys makes a very weak Opening bid to indicate the lead in case Fourth Hand becomes the eventual Declarer.

(3) A very poor vulnerable Overcall. However, the bidding has not suggested the possibility of a severe penalty.

(4) Mr. Balfe counts his holding as sure to produce three to four tricks, and relies on his partner to furnish sufficient tricks to set the contract.

(5) Mr. Mattheys, with a singleton in diamonds, reasons that the hand can be played more advantageously against the opponents than on the attack, an entirely correct decision, as the sequel shows.

In the play, Mr. Sims, who sat North, was defeated two tricks for a penalty of 600 points. A very daring Penalty Double had brought a most fortunate result.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Is the following hand, held by South, strong enough to bid two hearts over East's one club bid?

♠ 7 5 ♡ A K Q 10 9 6 ◇ K Q 7 4 3 ♣ — —

Answer—Yes. Although the hand contains only three honor-tricks, it has other plus values and a powerful distribution.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Engraving a Watch.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Will you kindly tell me what to engrave on a gentleman's watch?

2. Is $60 too much to pay for a graduation gift for the man to whom you are engaged?

3. What length gloves should be worn with an afternoon dress for commencement exercises which will be held about 2:30 o'clock? The dress is beige, has two-inch sleeves, and is about three inches from the floor in length? The dress is soft silk and lace. J.

1. The best form is to have the initials, in plain block letters, engraved on the back, if it is an open face watch, or on the front, if it closes. The letters should be very forthright, very masculine. You may use the initials without the periods; or use the periods in the conventional place; or have them engraved in the center of the space between the letters.

2. Lady, that "depends" . . . and especially "in these days" . . . and only you and your budget could answer this. The fact that you are engaged gives you the privilege of giving as consequential a gift as you wish and can.

3. Any length gloves these days is correct and fashionable . . . the very long one that would come well above your elbow, the medium length, or the new chic, short length. Commencement exercises are apt to be pretty warm affairs, and perhaps you would be more comfortable in the short gloves (not the very short ones that end at the wrist), but the ones that have several inches to crush down on the arm.

Household Hints

A dash of salt added to the whites of eggs makes them whip better.

Many of the new curtains have four-inch hems across the sides and ends. They may be made by folding the material back on the right side and finishing with fancy braid.

If you will always string sets of buttons on heavy thread when putting them away for future use, a great deal of time will be saved when you start to hunt in the button box. Also there is not a chance of there being just a few used and the set thus spoiled.

The Lady on the Right

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When a woman enters a motor with a young man, is it best for her to be seated upon his right as at other occasions, or to observe the rule to seat herself nearest the door of the car where she enters it?

2. When crossing a public street, does it seem more advisable that the gentleman present his arm to the lady or that he assist her by touching her arm?

3. Should a lady, who goes with a friend to a tea to be presented to new friends, be seated when the hostess, a young girl, enters the room? Is it discourteous for her, the older guest, to remain seated? Should she rise to acknowledge her introduction to a hostess younger than she?

AN ADMIRING READER.

1. It is best for the woman to take the place at the right of the man.

2. Either is correct, but usually the man places the palm of his hand firmly under the elbow of the woman, and in this way guides her across the street.

3. It is more courteous of her, even considering the difference in ages, to rise when she greets her hostess.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Way out on the Pacific coast wedding bells rang out this morning for a Seattle bride and a Pittsburgh bridegroom, who will live later on in Pittsburgh.

The bride is Emilie von Phul, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Philip V. von Phul, of Seattle, and the bridegroom Daniel James Conley, son of Mrs. Thomas Conley, of Pittsburgh.

They were married at 10 o'clock this morning in St. Joseph's Church, Seattle, with white gladioli and dahlias against a background of smilax decorating the sanctuary. Cathedral candles lighted the altar.

Outlining the bateau neckline of the bride's gown of white crepe were the Nidelet pearls, an heirloom on the distaff side, worn by eight generations of brides.

Her veil of tulle cascaded from a cap, held in place on either side of her face by medallions of the heirloom pearls.

Mrs. Frita Frolich, Jr., was her sister's matron of honor, and another sister, Mary von Phul, was bridesmaid. They wore similar gowns of white crepe, made with V necks, puffed sleeves and long, full skirts, and white crepe turbans having tiny nose veils. As accent Mrs. Frolich had a girdle of sea green velvet, tied in the back, with the ends reaching to the floor, and the bridesmaid had a corn yellow girdle. Mrs. Frolich carried Talisman roses, tied with green velvet, and Mary von Phul carried Johanna Hill roses.

Bridal Party

Dr. Joseph Shaw was best man, and Phillip von Phul, Lucien Marion, Newton Drew and Dr. Norman Branchflower were ushers.

The mother of the bride was in beige crepe with a brown velvet hat and had a corsage of gardenias.

For traveling, the bride wore a brown and yellow bourle suit and a brown felt hat with a brown broadtail coat. For a time Mr. Conley and his bride will live in St. Louis, coming to Pittsburgh later to reside.

After Labor Day the great trek back to town usuallly begins, but mid-August brings a few of the first returning from trips. And among these are the James Chambers McKays, who've been away since late June.

Some Return

Of course you know that petite Mrs. McKay is the former Frances Reed, daughter of Mrs. James Hay Reed, Jr., of Castleman street. She and her husband have just come back to Pittsburgh after having been gone since their wedding, a fashionable event of June 27.

After going to Bermuda, they went to Beaumaris, Canada, to be the guests of the young bridegroom's family, the Thomas J. McKays, at their Canadian home.

The young McKays are now with her mother, Mrs. Reed, and haven't yet decided where they will make their own home.

Visiting Mother

Mrs. Reed and her son, James Hay Reed III, are just home, by the way, from Bay Head, where they were guests of the John G. Fraziers.

Mrs. Thomas J. McKay, who has been paying a short visit to her Pittsburgh home, expects to return to Beaumaris soon for the remainder of the season.

And now we hear that one of the gayest events of autumn, the Rolling Rock Hunter Trials, is cancelled. When these days of depression are over, how doubly attractive all these events will seem after our foregoing them for a year or so.

Intercollegiate Summer Dance To Be Given on August 26

Just as the vacation season is nearing its end for 1932, plans are being made for one last summer gathering before September finds the college set back at the grind again.

And the gathering will be at the intercollegiate summer dance to be given Friday evening, August 26, in the Pittsburgh Field Club under the direction of J. R. Aldrich, of State College; Joseph Mulone, University of Pittsburgh Medical School, and Herbert A. Dodd, Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Among the aides will be Margaret Bulmer, Betty Edmundson and Sally Royston.

The William C. Robinsons, their daughters, Mary Franklin and Althea, and their son and daughter-in-law, the junior William Christopher Robinsons, are all European minded just now. They plan to sail September 7 to visit England, Germany and France.

Review Club to Start Season at Meeting In Frick's Woods

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Although it has been in existence for 17 years, the Review Club has functioned so quietly that it has never been publicized. It was organized by the late Miss Lula Bell Hall, sister of the present secretary, Mrs. George A. MacGregor, as a current events group. Gradually it has expanded both its programs and its membership until the latter numbers 23 and the former has become more miscellaneous in character, although current events are included at almost every meeting.

Mrs. G. P. Thurber is president; Miss Jean Wood, vice president; Mrs. MacGregor, recording secretary; Mrs. W. E. Keener, her assistant; Mrs. J. E. Foreman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. M. Milson, treasurer, and Mrs. G. B. Horner, assistant treasurer.

The new year books are neatly mimeographed pages bound in a hand-decorated cover of blue and yellow. They forecast the opening of the season on September 8 with a meeting in Frick's woods. Topics announced for the year are "A Day With George Washington," England, a play, parliamentary law, Japan, Russia, the Polish Corridor, the royal difficulties of Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, Mussolini and Hitler, and India and China. And the year will close with a luncheon in June.

Cadiz Girl to Marry Pittsburgher Aug. 27

Miss Mary Margaret Lippincott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Lippincott, of Cadiz, O., has chosen Saturday, August 27, as the date for her marriage to Robert Bruce Reline, of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Reline, of St. Clairsville, O. The wedding will take place in the First Presbyterian Church of Cadiz, at 4 o'clock that afternoon.

WHITE REMAINS PARIS FAVORITE FOR LATE SUMMER EVENINGS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 17.—The favorite among summer evening dresses remains, as far as Paris is concerned, the white one. But there are white dresses and white dresses. Probably never before have French designers worked so consistently on the elaboration of a single theme as they have on the white dress. Its variations never seem to end—which is probably why it continues to be popular.

* * *

BEGINNING WITH the formal—extremely formal—gown of white satin, there is, in every French dressmaking house, a list of white evening dresses which run the gamut of all ages and ranges of formality and informality. For the dowager, there is still no gown as stunning as the one of dull white crepe, cut on straight lines, rather than bias ones, and worn with a belt. At the other end of the list there is none more charming for the young girl than the one of white batiste, lace-trimmed.

* * *

MAINBOCHER does the batiste type of dress exceptionally well. Instead of cutting it on the usual sophisticated lines, he makes his batiste dress with a full skirt—made especially full by deep gathers at the waist. He goes further in putting an exceptional fullness at the center-front and center-back. One of his batiste dresses, shown in the sketch, is covered from shoulders to hem with criss-crossed bands of fine Valenciennes lace. There is a bouquet of deep red carnations at the waist.

* * *

EQUALLY informal, but less naif in cut is the Ardanse white dress. It is made of a new angel-skin fabric in a lacy weave, which hangs in heavy soft folds, but is actually light in weight. The entire dress is cut on the bias, with points and angles marking both the neckline and the skirt yoke. Like many of the newer evening gowns, it is beltless.

POTTERS SIGN WAGE SCALE

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Aug. 17.—Peace is assured in the American Ceramic industry for another two-year period, as a result of the new wage agreement announced by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the United States Potters' Association.

The pact, signed in Atlantic City, N. J., provides for a general 10 per cent wage reduction. Secretary-Treasurer Charles F. Goodwin, of the Manufacturers' organization, said. Although the pact dates from October 1, when the old agreement expires, the scale is effective at once, Goodwin announced. The agreement affects 7,500 skilled workmen and equally as many helpers.

MURDER SCENE DEMOLISHED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—"Lone Oak," the old abandoned estate in Chestnut Hill, where Norman R. Bechtel, prominent Mennonite church worker was mysteriously slain, last January, is being demolished.

The old house was formerly the home of Mrs. Thomas P. C. Stokes and is still her property. It is being torn down for the erection of a more modern dwelling.

Bechtel was found dying in a driveway in the rear of the house the night of January 20th last. He had been stabbed half a dozen times or more and struck over the head apparently as he sat in his machine in the rear of the building.

BOROUGHS PAY HIGH RATE FOR WATER

The Pittsburgh Suburban Water Service Company, serving eight boroughs in the Bellevue and McKees Rocks districts, charges a botton rate for metered water double that of the city of Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh Suburban bottom rate of 40 cents a thousand for the first 25,000 gallons compares with 33 cents a thousand gallons for the first 12,000 gallons charged by the South Pittsburgh Water Company, which recently agreed to submit lower rates by September 15, according to word from the Public Service Commission offices at Harrisburg.

NO SERVICE CHARGE

There is no service charge in the Pittsburgh Suburban rate, however, whereas the ordinary home owner pays $2 a quarter under the South Pittsburgh schedule.

The city rate is 20 cents a thousand for the first 250,000 gallons, plus a small service charge, depending on the size of the meter.

In spite of a reorganization in 1928 which increased the company's funded debt to the extent of $1,066,500 in 5 per cent bonds, the company has made an excellent showing in the last three years with a net income last year, after interest, taxes and depreciation, of $71,686, or $14.34 a share on the preferred stock.

This compares with $78,180 net in 1928, or $15.64 a share on the preferred.

DETAILS REVEALED

The details of the company's reorganization were revealed by Patrick Keady, Pittsburgh accountant, in testimony before the House investigating committee last year.

The Federal Water Service Corporation, which accomplished the reorganization, got $630,000 in cash out of the deal through the retirement of new common stock, Keady declared. This took a large part of a bond issue sold to the public, he stated.

Federal Water Service is controlled by the Tri Utilities Corporation, one of the G. L. Ohrstrom utility interests. Through its ownership of 5,000 shares of common stock it exercises complete control over Pittsburgh Suburban.

FINAL REPORT

The final report of the house committee states:

"Federal's original investment in this company (Pittsburgh Suburban), according to data on file with the Securities Commission, amounting to $1,482,273, was reduced to $404,773 as a result of this refinancing."

By the sale of 5 per cent bonds and 5½ per cent preferred stock to the public, Federal was able to work itself into a position where it holds common stock with a stated value of $525,000 which cost it $404,773, according to the report.

Exhibits of the investigating committee also show a write-up in the book value of Pittsburgh Suburban of $400,107 following its acquisition by Federal Water Service. This was an increase of 16.78 per cent.

Although compelled to pay interest on the issue of bonds and preferred stock, Pittsburgh Suburban received only a small portion of the money to put back into plants and equipment, the report showed. The company serves approximately 13,000 customers.

Water Firm Conceals Views on Rate Cuts

The South Pittsburgh Water Company will have no definite statement to make regarding lower rates until a third conference has been held with the Public Service Commission in September, according to E. A. Geehan, president of the company, in a statement issued in New York.

Geehan recently took part in conferences with the commission at which it is understood substantial rate cuts were suggested.

DRY LAW, BONUS VITAL TOPICS BEFORE STATE LEGION

POLITICS

Martin Lacks Control Of Legislative Votes

—By MARK SHIELDS—

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—The manner in which the proposed tax of two cents on each package of 20 cigarets was sidetracked is an illuminating evidence of the indecision within the Republican organization, and the inability of State Chairman Edward Martin to control any delivery of a substantial bloc of votes in the Legislature.

Mr. Shields

The story comes to me through Philadelphia sources which I believe are reliable, which have always been heretofore, and from sources not unfriendly to Gen. Martin.

It will be recalled that the state chairman, after declining for weeks to inject himself into the confusion of the special session, milling about in an utter inability to hit on any passable measures of relief, last Sunday night issued a statement indorsing the tax on cigarets, soft drinks and cosmetics. Parenthetically, the cigaret tax is dead on the floor of the House, and the other tax measures never came from committee.

* * *

Consulted Hazlett, Phila. Leader

However that may be, the state chairman did not issue his statement until after he had talked with James M. Hazlett, Philadelphia Republican city chairman, and the oretically the leader of that group in the Legislature. He had assurances that Philadelphia would be for the cigaret tax bill and shove it through with an expected revenue of $6,000,000 for the coming year.

Furthermore, the bill had the approval of the Governor, and everything was thought to be sweet and pretty when the Legislature met Monday night to begin what is termed its deliberations, the eighth week of them.

But there was an upset. During the Monday session word was passed that Philadelphia had switched, and was against the cigarette tax bill. It was this switch which brought about the sudden conference in the Governor's office Monday night and the decision to jettison the cigaret and other nuisance tax bills for relief in favor of the sales tax measure now before the Assembly—a measure which will be drastically revised before final passage, if that eventually occurs.

What had happened between the approval of the Martin statement by Hazlett, its issuance, and the repudiation by the Philadelphia delegation of the implied understanding?

* * *

Francis Shunk Brown, Vare Linked In Move

As the story comes to me, Francis Shunk Brown, defeated organization candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in the primary of 1930, retained by the anti-cigaret tax groups to fight the tax, called upon William S. Vare when he discovered what was in the wind. He protested vehemently any support of the measure by the delegation under the control of the Philadelphia boss.

And the agreement between Hazlett and Martin was abruptly and brutally cancelled, Hazlett being compelled to back track on his previous commitment.

It is but a further evidence of the chaos which surrounds party affairs in the state at this time, the cross currents which run through Philadelphia and which confront Gen. Martin with the impossibility of any certain delivery on any subject. It is true the State Chairman in his statement held out the sales tax as an alternative, but his first and most confident shot was toward the nuisance taxes which he said would hurt no one.

Considerable political strategy—so-called—entered into the selection of Senator William S. Rial as chairman of the Senate committee to investigate alleged relations of public utilities with the Public Service Commission over the period of the commission's life. Rial was defeated in the primary election last spring. He can reap no political whirlwinds from whatever unpleasant circumstances the inquisitorial committee may uncover. He does not stand to suffer the same embarrassments which might rest upon a member either seeking re-election, or holding over through the next session.

That was in the forefront of the deliberations which resulted in his selection.

* * *

Senators Sidestepping P. S. C. Responsibility

Other senators were glad to sidestep the responsibility, and thrust it upon Rial, who was chairman of the committee which heard the charges against W. D. B. Ainey, who resigned as chairman of the Public Service Commission under the fire of charges by Gov. Pinchot that he had received substantial gratuities from utility chieftains.

The appointment of Rial means an accelerated investigation. His terms expires December first, and after that he will have no official connection with the state government. He must complete his investigation before that time, and make to the Senate which meets in 1933 a report which he will be unable to defend, because he will be out of office.

As an afterthought, the Jobless party need feel no fear that Gov. Pinchot would accept its nomination as a presidential candidate. The Governor smiles away such reports, but it is a safe assumption that he has little enthusiasm for the party aims. Its gains will be at the expense of Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, and Mr. Pinchot leans to Gov. Roosevelt rather than President Hoover as a presidential candidate.

DEFECTS FOUND IN COUNTY BRIDGES

Ornaments, Gadgets Found to Be Falling Off

Finishing touches on bridges are giving the County Commissioners trouble. At yesterday's meeting it was disclosed that doors on the McKees Rocks Bridge pylons supposed to be cast aluminum were not. Instead, 16 ornaments known as "bosses" were cemented on. One fell off, so now Harry Wimer, Inc., will have to recast the doors under the terms of their bond, still effective.

Other gadgets on bridges have been falling off. When an ornamental cap on the McKees Rocks Bridge was found in the roadway, alert county agents found 49 of the caps supposed to have four bolts each, only had two, and these were not tight. Percy E. Hunter, officer in several bridge railing concerns, has agreed to make good this defective work. Otherwise his bridge railing joo was reported satisfactory.

Through his attorney, Archworth Martin, Hunter also notified the commissioners that the contract recently let for curb rail guards to the Pressed Steel Car Company "apparently constitutes an infringement upon an invention of Mr. Hunter's."

This led special counsel B. Mortimer Lesher to remark:

"Hunter is always charging infringement of patent."

The bond furnished by the Pressed Steel Car Company protects the county against infringement of patent suits, according to Lesher.

TWO COUPLES HURT BY AUTOS

Miss Mathilda Barick, 21, of Smithdale, and Steven Perpillon, 28, of McKean avenue, Charleroi, were in Mercy Hospital today with injuries suffered when an automobile in which they were riding overturned in Sawmill Run boulevard, Overbrook, last night.

Perpillon swerved the car to avoid hitting another auto approaching from the opposite direction, police said. Miss Barick suffered lacerations, bruises and internal injuries, and Perpillon suffered cuts on the legs and face.

Howard Doyle, 21, and Miss Virginia Williamson, both of Carrick, are in New Castle Hospital suffering from lacerations of the head and face suffered yesterday at the intersection of the Butler, New Castle and Perry Highways.

HILL DISTRICT ASKS POLICE

Better police protection in the Hill district was requested from Mayor Charles H. Kline by a delegation from the Hill District Taxpayers' Association.

One of the spokesmen, who would not give his name, said, after an audience with the Mayor, that "Communists are interfering with the activities of the sheriff and constables." Asked for an explanation he said when constables serve a landlord's warrant on a tenant "Communists come along and move the tenants back in after they have been moved out."

The Mayor told the delegation he would confer with Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh and request he co-operate with them.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 17.—This Mayor Walker investigation would be a great money maker if they would just move it around and make one-day stand in each town. That would be a touring "Olympics" with the Mayor as "Babe" Didrickson.

Will Rogers

The farmers are on a strike in Iowa. Instead of selling their stuff for nothing, they just eat it themselves, and that saves 'em the expense of hauling it to town. Funny they never thought of that before. I have always claimed that if every farmer eats all that he raised, then he would not only get fat himself, but farm products might "probably" go up. Course on account of this not being an economist's idea it might not work.

Yours, WILL.

Texas Voters Given 2 Years To Reach Polls

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

John Garner has met the Eastern Democrats and found out they ain't so fierce.

Jack told 'em he started voting Democrat when he was 19. That gives him a two-year start on everybody.

Down on the Rio Grande they must allow a voter a couple of years to reach the polls because they ain't sure he's going to get there. Jack was about ready to tear up national headquarters. But he agreed to wait until the open season when he learned that he was entitled to a bag limit of 50 fat Republicans.

They wanted to see what a Rio Grande Jeffersonian looked like. And Jack showed 'em. He's up here to state his opinionated convictions. And if you don't like 'em, there's nothing to stop you from going to the hip. Jack guarantees you a fair draw.

There ain't anybody riding herd on him. Looks like we finally picked a Vice President who will get a seat for his sister at Washington banquets.

BLONDE FACING HOLDUP QUIZ

A score of holdup victims tonight will endeavor to identify at a "standup" in detective headquarters, four men and a girl returned here from Harrisburg yesterday in connection with the holdup of the American Oil Company service station, at Third and Liberty avenues, early Saturday.

Two suspects, Joseph Russo, 24, and Ernest Zimmerman, 29, were identified as the bandits, according to detectives. Tony Lavia, 29, was identified as an accomplice.

The girl, Trudy Steiner, 19, a blonde, and her husband, Lawrence Steiner, 29, were held after their roadster was identified as one of the two cars used in the escape. Lavia and Russo were identified as the bandits who robbed a service station in the William Penn highway, near Export, of $75.88, Saturday.

The five denied complicity in the holdups.

Plan Held Feasible Without Considering Water Company

The Pennsylvania Water Company is going to be left high and dry with its water works at Nadine Station as far as Allegheny County and the Allegheny River boulevard are concerned.

The water company has been holding up construction of the boulevard that County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern has repeatedly called a stupendous "$500,000 engineering bungle" and residents of the district have dubbed "the bouleevard that does not go any place."

McGovern, it was learned, has instructed the engineers of the Department of Highways, Bridges and Tunnels, to survey the Nadine situation, with a view of putting the boulevard in along the hills passing up the water works. The engineers have reported that the proposition is feasible and that the boulevard can be finished without giving any consideration to the water plant.

If McGovern's idea is carried out the two-year controversy will be ended and work started within a short time to complete the boulevard. The Pennsylvania Water Company has been asking $140,000 damages for the privilege of permitting the boulevard to pass its property. Of the damages, $100,000 is asked to provide carrying charges on a coal conveyor system necessary to handle coal under the boulevard.

The Commissioners made a trip to Nadine after the meeting yesterday, probably to make a personal inspection of the McGovern idea. The boulevard can be finished under this plan at less cost than to settle with the water company, it has been said.

Rodeo of State Police To Aid Pension Fund

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, ex-Governors, state officials, county and city executives and judges, are expected to attend the rodeo presented here by Troop A, Pennsylvania State Police, August 25, Capt. Albert Carlson, troop commander, announced.

For a month the 78 troopers attached to the barracks have been drilling daily. Some of them are at work erecting two extra bleacher stands to accomodate the grandstand overflow, which the ticket sale indicates. Proceeds of the exhibition will go to the Pennsylvania State Police Pension Fund. Each troop in the state holds its rodeo every five years.

The destinguished service medal will be presented to Capt. Wilson C. Price, former commander of Troop A, now the head of the State Highway Patrol. The presentation will be made by Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police.

The program, containing many thrills, will include: Fancy saddle drills, high jumping by two horses over an automobile, cossack riding, burning hoops, hurdle jumping, Roman riding, horse calisthenics, balloon shooting, mounted wrestling and rough riding.

In addition, an exhibition drill will be given by the Green Trojan Drum and Bugle Corps, Robert G. Kotouch Post No. 318, American Legion, Greensburg. Motorcycle trick riding will be exhibited by the Pennsylvania state highway patrol. Music will be furnished by the Ninty-ninth Division Band of the U. S. Army, with Walter Arbogast directing.

Capt. Carlson is being assisted by Lieut. Thomas F. Martin. The event will take place at Offutt Field at 3 p. m., eastern standard time. All tickets are priced $1 and are on sale by troopers and the highway patrolmen.

MEETING HERE EXPECTED TO SET RECORD

Three-Day Session To Be Opened Tomorrow

Prohibition, bonus and adjusted compensation are expected to be among important resolutions before the Pennsylvania Department, American Legion, convention which opens its three-day session tomorrow.

Predicting the largest convention ever entertained in Pittsburgh, committee leaders today were completing plans for handling 15,000 official delegates and alternates for both the Legion and its auxiliary. State Commander George J. Proesl, of Du Bois, said indications were that the conclave, expected to draw 50,000 to 60,000 visitors to the city, will be the largest ever held by the State Department.

While the formal convention business starts tomorrow morning, the state executive committee will meet tonight in the William Penn Hotel to complete all details. All sessions will be held during the next three mornings in the Nixon Theater. Convention headquarters will be maintained in the William Penn Hotel.

AUXILIARY SESSIONS

The auxiliary delegates, with convention headquarters in the Fort Pitt Hotel, will formally open their sessions at the same time. Meetings will be held in the Moose Temple.

While three candidates are announced for the state presidency, the women's organization is expected to have its biggest fight in a constitutional amendment reducing the president's term from two years to one. The change will be advocated by Allegheny County members, it is understood. Under the new ruling, a president would not be permitted to succeed herself.

Auxiliary candidates for president are Mrs. W. J. Lloyd, of Uniontown; Mrs. Louise Conrad, of Hanover, and Mrs. Erm Beadle, of Shamokin. Nominations are scheduled for Friday morning, with election an afternoon event. Mrs. Thomas Meany, Jr., of Philadelphia, is state president, and Mrs. Stephen C. Bednar, of New Kensington, is convention chairman.

SEATS FOR 10,000

Ten thousand seats are being made avalable for spectators at the reviewing stand on North Side for the six-hour parade Saturday afternoon. Gov. Pinchot and Gen. Smedley D. Butler will review the marching delegations representing 200 groups from throughout the tristate district. Tickets are being offered for sale at the William Penn Hotel cigar stand, Gimbel Brothers, Kaufmann's, McCreery & Co., and Boggs & Buhl.

The spectacular drum and bugle corps competition will be Friday night's feature at Forbes Field. During the afternoon a picnic at Kennywood Park, a river excursion on the steamer Washington, state golf championship at Stanton Heights Golf Club, and a swimming party at Raquen Lake will divide the attention of delegates and their families. Baby and beauty contests will be among the Kennywood features.

U. S. TAKES PART IN WAR SHOW AT STORE

A complete exhibit of United States ordnance, used in wars since the 1812 conflict, is among the war memorials being shown at Gimbels in connection with the annual convention of the American Legion.

Enlarged photographs, showing scenes in France during the World War, 10,000 pictures of World War events, relics, chemical warfare exhibits, uniforms and instruments used by the American Legion and other implements make up the extensive show.

Brought here under the direction of Maj. Wallace S. Clay, executive assistant to the chief of the Pittsburgh ordnance district of the United States Army, the show includes also maps showing the layout of ammunition and machine making activities of the Army in the event of war. The charts show how each industry in the area is made responsible for certain functions, how these manufacturies reach a central base and are assembled to furnish the implements of war.

Many of the guns shown are large ones, dating from the eighteenth century.

A field piece made in France in 1792, throwing a three-inch shell, is alongside a modern Lewis machine gun which fires 600 bullets a minute.

Thousands of visitors, the sons of soldiers and their wives and daughters are viewing the exhibit.

One of the charts presented by Maj. Clay shows a comparison between the ammunition used in the Civil War and the World War. In the former, in one year, 1,950,000 rounds were fired, while in one year in the World War the rounds totaled 152,515,000. The cost in the former was $10,000,000, and in the latter $30,000,000,000.

Pittsburgh, he declared, is one of the important centers for raw materials used in war. He explained that all the industries here are organized.

ESCAPES FIRE AFTER BLAST

One man narrowly escaped death in a fire caused by a mysterious explosion which destroyed his home and an adjoining dwelling on Lincoln way, Versailles Township, early today. The loss was estimated at $8,000 by Fire Chief James A. Moffat, Jr., of Versailles Township.

Awakened by an explosion which blew out the kitchen door, the tenant of the property owned by John Veadosky said sparks were showered over his bed in a room adjoining the kitchen. The flames spread to the nearby structure owned by Veadosky's son, Mike. Lack of water handicapped firemen.

Two Children Die In Turpentine Blast

REVERE, Mass., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Two children were burned fatally last night and their mother and father were burned critically when a can of turpentine being heated on a gas range exploded and set fire to their clothing.

Farmer Exonerated In Slaying of Son

KITTANNING, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—A farmer who shot and killed his son, mistaking him for a groundhog, was exonerated of blame by a Coroner's investigation.

Addison Reedy explained that he followed his son, Orville, 24, into fields to hunt groundhogs yesterday. Crouching behind a stump, Reedy saw bushes move. He fired, shooting his son through the head.

No inquest will be held.

Constance Binney Secretly Divorced

RENO, Nev., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Constance Binney, Broadway stage star of a few years ago, was secretly divorced from Charles Edward Cotting at Fallon, Nev., July 25, court files revealed today. Samuel Platt, Reno attorney, represented Miss Binney.

Extreme mental cruelty was charged. A settlement was understood to have been effected out of court. She and Cotting married at Old Lyme, Conn., June 30, 1926.

VISIT THE FORD OPEN-AIR SALON

FORBES STREET AT SCHENLEY PARK
OPPOSITE HOTEL SCHENLEY

August 18th, 19th and 20th, 9 A. M. to 11 P. M.

YOU are cordially invited to attend a salon of the New Ford V-8. For the first time all of the new Ford cars will be on display here. You can inspect them conveniently, carefully and at your leisure.

One of the features of the show is that arrangements have been made for you to ride in and drive the cars if you wish. There is, of course, no obligation. We sincerely want every one to ride in this great new car and realize, first-hand, the thrill of its amazing performance. Don't miss the opportunity to know this new motoring experience.

A cutaway chassis is also on display. You can examine every working part, see how it functions, learn the care with which it is made, and realize the simplicity and sturdiness of Ford construction.

There are talking pictures and special exhibits which show many of the new features.

Attendants will be on hand to give you any information you might wish about the cars, or the details of their construction.

If you phone your Ford dealer he'll gladly pick you up at your home or office and take you there.

ERROR IN AUDIT CHARGED BY WOODSIDE

Even expert auditors slip up once in a while. Controller Robert G. Woodside caught one on M. C. Conick and wrote a letter to the commissioners about it, saying:

"On checking the accounts receivable report as submitted by the auditors, we note they have overlooked a charge of $104,000 against the Department of Highways, and $40,000 against the Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Youghiogheny Railroad Company, in accordance with an agreement dated August 8, 1930.

"The oversight is called to your attention so that it can be added to the statements which you have, for the benefit of the parties interested. We might add that both of these items were on record in the accounts receivable ledger at the time it was copied by your auditors."

Mr. Milestone Speaks His Mind

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17.

One man, Lewis Milestone, takes issue with Hollywood's cry against the photographed stage play.

Mr. Milestone, one of the powers that be at United Artists, believes that the technique of the dramatist is better suited to motion pictures than the old narrative form of story telling. He believes that relevant dialogue quickens the pace of a film while the old silent titles used to bring the action to a dead stop.

Lewis Milestone

"In the old days," declares the producer, "we used to be continually fading out where there was nothing to fade out on—no climax.

"The dramatist, on the other hand, doesn't bring his curtain down except on a punch situation. He learns to make irrelevant action happen off-stage. He is an expert at economy of effect.

ONE REAL DIFFERENCE

"The only real difference between the stage and the screen is this: On the stage we are limited by the proscenium arch and by the knowledge of the audience out there in front. An actor must always perform business so it will be visible from the auditorium.

"On the screen, we are liberated from this. The camera can enable the audience to peek through a key-hole, even see inside of a drawer. We supply action by mannipulating the lens."

Milestone declares that he did not disturb the construction of the play "Rain," which he recently directed with Joan Crawford as star. He added a short introduction, he made some of the scenes take place in different backgrounds, but he kept the situations the same, the dialogue almost identical.

Joan Crawford

Significantly Fox's new talkie version of "The First Year" also used Frank Craven's situations and dialogue in their entirety.

BOULEVARD CHATTER:

The former art director of a large newspaper syndicate may be found in Hollywood tossing hamburgers at a 5-cent sandwich joint. Funny thing is, he's refused offers to go back to his old job . . . William De Mille has built four tennis courts on the grounds of his old home place on Hollywood boulevard.

He is making a nice income from renting them out and from a small restaurant on the grounds . . . Unless film offers pick up, Estelle Taylor plans to go to Italy in the fall and take voice lessons from a famous teacher . . . Hereafter the Walt Disney "Silly Symphonies" will be photographed in technicolor . . . Those two authorities on the underworld, Kubec Glasmon and John Bright, are writing a gambling ship story for Lew Ayres . . . Harold Lloyd is seriously considering Douglas Fairbanks' invitation to go to the Orient with him.

They're very much pleased with Marian Nixon's work at Fox. She goes into the feminine lead of "Rackety Rax," that satire on a gangster who buys a college and tries to turn football into a racket.

Some other players in this picture will be Minna Gombell, Greta Nissen, Alan Dinehart and Hollywood's professional insulter, Vince Barnett.

Here's news of another star you haven't heard much about lately. Marceline Day has been signed by Warners to play opposite John Wayne in "The Telegraph Trail."

A Habit

Feature player Colleen Moore dons her English riding habit for a gallop over California's landscape.

Rosco Ates Busiest RKO Player

Rosco Ates attains the record of RKO Radio's busiest actor on the Hollywood lot with his current assignments including roles in Constance Bennett's "Rockabye," Bill Boyd's "Yukon," Mitzi Green's "Little Orphan Annie" and "Shampoo, the Magician," a headliner comedy.

MacDonald in Cast Of Western

J. Farrell MacDonald, noted character actor, and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, actor, horseman and polo player, have been signed to play important roles in Paramount's film version of the Zane Grey novel, "Heritage of the Desert."

BITS OF LIFE — All in a Day — BY MARK HELLINGER

The Spender

(Reprinted by Request.)

THIS STORY concerns a composite character. There are many like him. There have been many like him the whole world over. He has lived in ancient Babylonia. He played in Rome in Caesar's time. He lives today in Paris and in Calcutta and in Tokio and in Budapest and in Port Said.

He lives in Broadway, too. We call him the Broadway Spender.

The Broadway Spender glanced into his mirror. He smiled with satisfaction, for he looked well this evening. It seemed to him th t he was 35 at most. Plenty of hair there yet—and that expert massage had done much for those wrinkles. Nobody would ever guess that he was close to 55. He felt certain of that.

This was to be a regular evening for him. Well, a bit more than regular because he was going out with a Swell Girl. He smiled again as he thought of her.

A little young for him she was—but a Swell Girl just the same. Only 19. He had been introduced to her at a party and she had seemed very much impressed when she heard his name.

And then, when he grew tired, there would be other Swell Girls . . .

* * *

They went first to dinner. There is but one place for the Broadway Spender to dine—and that is the most expensive speakeasy in town.

The doorman bowed low before the Spender and his Swell Girl. The Big Man was pleased. He handed the doorman a $5 bill and threw out his chest.

That's the kind of service I always get," he asserted. "They all know me."

They were soon seated. Two captains and three waiters hovered about his table.

"Bring," said the Spender, "the finest meal you can serve. Never mind the price. And chill two bottles of the best wine in the house. Be sure it's properly iced."

As they began their dinner, the Spender spoke.

"You see, my sweet one" he murmured, "how happy you can be with me? I can give you everything of the best. They all bow to me. I have the money and the power to make them cringe. I am a very successful man."

He gulped a glass of wine and placed a pudgy paw on the Swell Girl's delicate hand. The Swell Girl turned away. . .

* * *

When dinner was over they went to a show. A very successful musical show. They sat in the front row and the stars recognized him immediately. They mentioned his name several times and the Broadway Spender swelled with pride.

They left before the show was over and were driven to a big night club. The Broadway Spender tapped the floor of his machine with his stick.

"This is a very beautiful automobile," he told the Swell Girl. "It cost me $30,000 . . .

* * *

At the Night Club they placed a table upon the floor for him. He ordered wine again. Plenty of wine. He sent some to another table. Not that he liked the man at the other table—but there were two very pretty girls sitting there.

He danced with the Swell Girl and held her tightly.

The Broadway Spender prided himself on his dancing. He prided himself on the fact that he could go on for hours. Sometimes he felt very weary. But he kept dancing just the same. The wine was taking effect. He sat down with the Swell Girl and placed his arm around her. He swallowed another drink.

"Kid," he muttered. "I am to tell you something that's going to make you very happy. I'm in love with you. I want you very much——"

The Swell Girl did not have time to answer. A Young Boy stepped to the table and was smiling at her. The Swell Girl shook hands with the Young Boy and introduced him to the Broadway Spender. He had been in that show with her a short time before.

"How about going to Harlem?" asked the Young Boy. "The three of us. I know a great spot. What say?"

The Broadway Spender was tired. Too much champagne, too. But he agreed to go. No Young Boy could stand up longer than he. . . . They knew the Broadway Spender up in the Harlem.

Time went on. It was growing late. Almost 7 o'clock in the morning. The Swell Girl was dancing with the Young Boy. Dance after dance. The Broadway Spender didn't like that.

"Get rid of that Young Boy," whispered the Broadway Spender to her. "I will take you home very soon. And don't forget what I told you. And I have millions."

The Broadway Spender left the table for a moment. When he came back the Swell Girl was gone. She had left with the Young Boy. . . .

* * *

At 9 o'clock in the morning, the Broadway Spender was sitting in Central Park. He had dismissed his Rolls Royce and was sitting on a bench. His eyes were heavy. His cheeks sagged. His collar was wilted. His head ached.

A Little Girl passed with her nurse. The child was gay and healthy and happy.

"Oh, nursie," cried the child, "look at the funny man in the evening clothes!"

"Hush, Child," said the nurse, anxiously. "Not so loud. He's an important man. That's the Broadway Spender."

The Little Girl laughed heartily.

"Don't be foolish, nurse," she murmured. "Can't you see what he is? He is just a tired old man." . . .

Warner Bros Sparkling Hit

Greta Garbo can combine a little business with her pleasure trip to her native Sweden if she cares to consent to a proposal by Warner Brothers (not yet received by the lady) to appear in a photoplay to be based on the novel, "The Match King," by Einar Thorvaldson, the story of which is said to be a close parallel to that of the late Ivan Kreuger. If the deals go through some of the scenes may be filmed at the Kreuger summer estate near Stockholm. The part designed for Miss Garbo is that of a mysterious actress associated with the career of an international financier. Warren William already has been announced for the title role. He will be sent abroad if negotiations end as the producers desire. Miss Garbo, by the way, has been rumored to be a possible purchaser of the Kreuger estate mentioned as a locale for some of the scenes.

The date of the local screen debut of Dick Powell, former master of ceremonies in the Stanley, has been set for the week beginning September 2, and Dick has sent a check for $25 to be given to the first baby born after 10 o'clock in the morning of that date. From this you might guess that the title of the picture in which he appears is "Blessed Event." And that's what it is.

Philip Moeller will direct the Theater Guild production of the dramatization of the Pear S. Buck novel, "The Good Earth," being made by Owen and Donald Davis. It will feature Alla Nazimova, who last season appeared in "Mourning Becomes Electra" for the Guild, and who, with the Lunts temporarily absent from its ranks, probably will be its main prop in the coming season. The association is especially appropriate for a star of the importance of Nazimova. It began with her appearance in "A Month In The Country."

Ralph Morgan, who acted in stock here, plays the role of Czar Nicholas, opposite the Czarina of Ethel Barrymore, in "Rasputin," photoplay now being made with the three Barrymores as co-stars. Lionel, Ethel and John once appeared together on the stage, but "Rasputin" will mark their first acting as a group for the screen.

Cast of New Picture Is Increased

Hollywood's cinematic legal fraternity today was increased by the addition of Wallis Clark and Frederick Burt, character actors, to the cast of Paramount's "The Night of June 13." Clark will portray the attorney who defends Clive Brook and Burt, the prosecutor who tries to send him to the electric chair. They join a cast headed by Brook, Lila Lee, Mary Boland, Adrianne Allen, Gene Raymond, Frances Dee and Charley Grapewin.

Cromwell Will Play "That's My Boy"

Richard Cromwell, one of the most sought after young leading men in Hollywood, will play the principal role in Columbia's football-mother love film, "That's My Boy," adapted from Francis Wallace's novel of the same name.

FRESH START MAY HEARTEN PIRATES

IT'S TO BE hoped that when luck changed for Larry French yesterday the shift also marked a turning point for the better in the fortunes of the Pirates. The hard-working left-hander had been in a losing rut even longer than his club. Until he took the decision in a southpaw duel with Watty Clark by shutting out the Dodgers, French had not won a game in six weeks, or since July 6, when he beat Dolf Luque and the Giants at Forbes Field, 3 to 1. In the meantime he lost five verdicts in a row and was lifted from one other engagement in which he was not charged with a defeat.

Larry French

Larry was back in his best stride when he gave the Dodgers their sixth beating in their last 26 starts, checked the Bucs' latest losing streak at four straight, and saved the locals from being tumbled out of second place. It was an encouraging turn of affairs that may have the effect of giving the Rovers renewed spirt and starting them on the road to better things. Certainly the Gibsons have no cause to complain of the way the baseball fates have treated them during their long slump. Ordinarily, a club losing 14 out of 16 games would almost fall out of the league, yet, in spite of all their skidding the Picaroons were only one game below first place today, and if the Cubs had not pulled their game of yesterday out of the fire in the ninth inning, Pittsburgh would be only one point from the top. All because other clubs were holding the Bruins to eight wins in 15 games while the Pirates were putting on their diving act.

ASIDE FROM THE fact that it was unfair to the Cubs, as it would have been to any club under similar circumstances, to put them under the strain of an investigation, seemingly uncalled for, at a time when they were fighting for first place, the Landis race-betting probe is being criticized from other angles.

Joe Vila, veteran critic of the New York Sun, notes that nothing has been said about baseball men playing the stock market, and says a major league club owner has been operating a large racing stable for some time, with not a question asked. He adds: "So long as ball players do not associate with crooked gamblers, the national game cannot be harmed. In many states betting on the horses is not illegal. It has been some time since Commissioner Landis occupied a conspicuous position in the spotlight."

GOING TO THE highest court to find out whether a batted ball was fair or foul is carrying a baseball argument pretty far, but that's the momentous question that now confronts the Supreme Court of Nicaragua. It grew out of a game in which the Managua Boers and a team from Granada were playing off a tie for second place in the Nicaraguan National League.

In the seventh inning the score stood 4 to 0 in favor of Managua. Granada was at bat with two men on bases and none out, and the Granada batter hit a slow roller down the first base line. It hit fair, rolled foul and then rolled back in.

THE MANAGUA PITCHER fielded the ball, but threw high to first, with the result that the men on second and third scored and the batter went to third. Then the umpire said it was a foul, though according to baseball rules, it was fair. The choice Spanish names the Granada fans called his umps have not been translated, but in the ensuing uproar the official forfeited the game to Managua. Under the rules of the league the offending club lost its right to a share of the gate receipts, and on that account Granada appealed to the Supreme Court. A divided Nicaraguan fandom waits feverishly for the august tribunal to decide whether it was a fair or a foul ball.

THAT AN INDIAN never forgets is demonstrated again by Chief Bender, old slab ace, now managing Erie. "Do you know those Giants last year voted me only a quarter share of one of the cuts of their second-place money, the same as they gave the bat boy?" was the way Bender brought up the subject.

Chief Bender

"They didn't vote Doc Knowles, the trainer, a cent, and I worked blisters on my hands down at the San Antone camp teaching Lindstrom to be an outfielder. He couldn't go back for a fly ball. I spent days knocking flies over his head, until finally he got the hang of turning and going and getting them.

"LATER I HAD the pleasure of seeing Lindstrom pull one of the greatest catches any center fielder ever made, taking a triple away from Gus Suhr, of the Pirates, in a game at the Polo Grounds.

"I'm not up in the majors any more, coaching or scouting. Just a Class B manager, but I will say there could be a lot worse places than Erie in which to make a living. For one thing it's a great place to fish, and how I go for that."

THE ANNUAL HIGH spot in harness racing will be reached at Goshen, N. Y., today, in the seventh running of the $60,000 Hambletonian Stake, for trotters, richest harness event in the world. Though the starting list includes also Jane Willet, The Lad, Brevere, Calumet Chuck and Calumet Crusader, many believe it will be a race between The Marchioness and Hollywood Dennis. These two met at Hartford last week, with victory going to the Marchioness. The Hambletonian was first run in 1926, when it reached its greatest value, $73,451, and has been won by Guy McKinney, Iosola's Worthy, Spencer, Walter Dear, Hanover's Bertha and Calumet Butler in the order named.

RAY BARBUTI, the only American runner to win a flat race in the 1928 Olympic Games at Amsterdam, was barred from the games at Los Angeles this year because he had lost his amateur standing by playing professional football.

Mention of the pro grid game in connection with the Barbuti case led coast men to disclose that Ernie Pinckert, Southern California's great back, before signing with the New York Giants for 1932, turned down an offer of $3,500 to sign a contract to play for another team this fall for $350 a game. Pinckert said it was not enough money. He finally signed with the Giants for $5,000.

MANY LEADING TENNIS men doubt that Henri Cochet will win the United States singles championship. They think he is not inclined to exert himself to the full extent of his power for what he considers empty glories.

Henri Cochet

In their opinion Cochet's entry for the tournament is merely a gesture of good will by the French, just as Henri goes to Wimbledon yearly, to be defeated after a round or two.

SOME ALSO QUESTION whether Cochet deserves to continue as No. 1 in the world ranking after being beaten this summer by both Ian Collins and Ellsworth Vines. But the wise old heads in the game are of the opinion that when there is something he wants to win, for instance if the Davis Cup were at stake on a particular match, he still is unbeatable. For remarkable variety of attack and defense, mastery of control and perfection in ring craft, the French ace, when extended, continues to stand without an equal, it is believed. Bill Tilden recently repeated that Cochet was the most canny opponent he ever faced. "He is constantly outguessing you," was the way Bill summed it up.

ST. CLAIR STAR TOPS EARLY FINISHERS

By TOM BIRKS

Bruce Miller, of the St. Clair Country Club, was out in front with a 76, five over par, after less than a score of the 125 entrants had posted scores in the 18-hole qualifying round of the Western Pennsylvania amateur golf championship tournament at the South Hills Country Club this afternoon.

Most of the "big shots," including Denny St. Clair, of Indiana, the defending champion; Fred Weppner, of Stanton Heights; Ray Babcock, of Oakmont, and other title favorites had not been heard from when Miller turned in his card. The field was late in getting away, and indications were the qualifiers would not be known until nightfall.

STRONG TITLE CONTENDER

Miller, who came here from St. Louis only this season, is regarded as a strong title contender. Well known as an amateur star in Missouri he has flashed consistently good golf since coming here. He came home in 36, only one over par, after going out in an indifferent 40 to get his 76 today. Par for the South Hills course and Miller's card:

South Hills par:
Out	4	5	4	3	4	4	3	4	5	—36
In	5	4	3	4	4	3	4	4	4	—35—71
Miller's card:
Out	4	7	4	3	4	4	5	4	5	—40
In	4	4	3	4	4	4	3	5	5	—36—76

The scoring average among the early finishers was surprisingly high.

The scores:

W. H. Hyde, Ridgeway	42	38—	81
Bill Mercer, Kuki	45	39—	84
R. H. Alexander, Stanton Heights	46	40—	86
R. Brown, South Hills	44	41—	85
D. C. Ulrich, Youghiogheny	45	37—	82
F. Peters, Youghiogheny	43	37—	80
R. Frye, Youghiogheny	43	38—	81
Dr. T. E. Cann, St. Clair	40	45—	85
Bruce Miller, St. Clair	40	36—	76

BABCOCK LEADER

Ray Babcock, popular Oakmont star, led a select field of amateurs home yesterday in the national amateur qualifying round over his home course. His 72-77—149, five over par, was one of the classiest exhibitions of golf turned in over the famous Hulton layout in a long time.

He was the only member of the abbreviated field to break 80 upon each trip around the well-trapped layout, and it was his second year to win the qualifying medal.

KNOX YOUNG SECOND

Knox M. Young, Jr., the Highland amateur, who has been out of the competitive limelight this year, trailed the home player. Young turned in a fine 73 for his first round, but he found the traps after lunch, and an 84 gave him a total of 157. George H. Flinn, Jr., who divides his attentions between EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: A LIFE-SAVING DEATH SENTENCE—At 7:52 on the morning of May 8, 1902, the telephone operator at St. Pierre, Martinique, sent a single word over the wire to a neighboring city, and then the wires suddenly became silent. Three seconds later, the town of St. Pierre ceased to exist, and 45,000 people—its entire population—lay dead in the ruins. A fiery blast from the local volcano, Mt. Pelee, caused the most disastrous and complete destruction in history. The only survivor out of a population of 45,000 was Augusta Ciparis, a Negro prisoner confined within the underground casemates of the local prison under a sentence of death. When he finally was rescued, after being buried for five days, his first remark to his rescuers was that he had had no breakfast since Thursday. THE PLAYFUL CENTENARIAN—Katharine Fitzgerald, Countess of Desmond, born in 1464, wife of Thomas F., the twelfth Earl of Desmond, died in 1604 at the age of 140. Her death was caused by a fall from a cherry tree, which the aged Countess had climbed in a playful mood. The Ireland of the seventeenth century was very proud of "ye olde countesse," who, down to the year of her death, would go on foot regularly to the weekly market, four miles away, and who, a few years before her death, grew a new set of teeth.

DODGER STARS WITH SEALS

Glenn Wright, former star shortstop of the Pirates and the present captain of the flag-dreaming Brooklyn Dodgers, and Tony Cuccinello, hard-hitting little Italian at second for Max Carey's club, will feature the weekly broadcast of the Trained Seals of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on Station WCAE tonight, starting at 6:50 and continuing until 7:15.

Wright and Cuccinello are said to be the fastest double-play combination in the National League. The Brooklyn captain and his buddie will discuss the various phases of the National League race with Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle, baseball writer of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Julius Levin will be master of ceremonies. Others on the program are Tom Birks, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sports department, and Herb McGee, WCAE announcer, and Marion Salmon, WCAE pianist.

Glenn Wright Tony Cuccinello

Tune in with the Seals tonight and hear what the Dodgers have to say regarding their pennant chances.

AUSTIN UPSET BY MANGIN

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, England's outstanding tennis player, today was eliminated in the fourth round of the Newport Casino turf classic by Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J. in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2. It was the best match of the week and the competition was much closer than indicated by the scores.

Mangin was superb at every point. The Briton tried to quit the baseline many times during the early games, only to be passed by the sharp shooting Jerseyite. The Briton's service was broken nine times during the match and Mangin yielded twice.

Dave Jones, of New York, who gave the tourney its first big upset yesterday when he eliminated Sidney Wood, gained the round of eight by defeating Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, the 16-year-old holder of the junior championship, 6-4, 6-1, 12-10. The summary:

FOURTH RUND SINGLES

Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., defeated E. A. Avory, England, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., defeated Henry W. Austin, England, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

Dave Jones, New York, defeated Frank Parker, Milwaukee, 6-4, 6-1, 12-10.

HAMBELTONIAN FIELD SET

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The Hambletonian, the "Kentucky Derby" of harness racing, will be renewed over the Goshen mile track today with seven of the country's fleetest three-year old trotters seeking the major share of the $60,000 purse.

Survivors of an original entry list of 591, the seven colt and fillies represent the last word in trotting. The field may not boast of a Peter Manning, holder of the world trotting record, or a Guy Axworthy, but at least two of the nominees—The Marchioness and Hollywood Dennis—are capable of breaking the Hambletonian record of 2:02½, made by Spencer in 1928.

The seven trotters named for the Hambletonian, with their owners, drivers and probable odds, follow:

Horse-Driver	Owner	Prob. Odds
The Marchioness, Mrs. Ralph B. Keeler, Catoen		5 to 3
Hollywood Dennis, John L. Dodge, Crozier		2 to 1

Muzzle-Loader Shoot Carded Here

Sounds of discharged muzzle-loaders, flint locks and percussion locks, heard in the vicinity of Wilkinsburg for the first time in many years a few weeks ago when the Wilkinsburg Rifle Club staged a shoot in which only oldtime firing pieces were used, will be heard again on Labor Day when the Wilkinsburg club stages a second shoot of this nature.

The competition will be staged at the club's grounds, Dream City Park, on the Verona car line, at 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of September 5.

Gaffney, Once Owner Of Braves, Is Dead

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—James E. Gaffney, 66, retired contractor and former owner of the Boston National League baseball club, died today as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage he suffered Sunday.

He was born in New York City. He began his career as a policeman, later organizing the New York Contracting and Trucking Company. One of the first big jobs of his company was construction of the Belmont race track in Queens.

He was the owner of the Braves when they won the National League pennant and world series in 1914.

FRENCH HURLS SHUTOUT TO EVEN SERIES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Although they felt some little disappointment over the ninth-inning collapse of the Braves in Chicago, the Pirates this morning were full of fight and ready for another encounter with the fast-going Dodgers. The victory of the Oaklanders yesterday kept them within one game of the league leaders, but they just missed the gain of a full game which would have put them into a practical deadlock with Charley Grimm's fighting Cubs.

The Bruins apparently are contesting every inch of the way. They were blanked and trailing by three runs as they entered the ninth inning yesterday, but playing like real champs, they pushed over four markers and won the game after two were out in the final frame.

BUCS FIGHTING

Be that as it may, the Pirates are in the mood of the fellow who felt he had to win his own battle. The idea of expecting somebody else to win it for you does not work out so good in any walk of life, including baseball. So by this token the Buccos will try to win more games than the Cubs or any other flag contender.

Larry French's courage was the outstanding element in the 4-0 success of the Buccos over the Dodgers yesterday. Larry is best when the stake is big and he answered the plea of Manager Gibson for a sweet victory as he shut the door in the faces of the Brooklyn Pretenders.

French did not content himself with holding the enemy runless. Larry struck the first strike of victory in the last half of the eighth when with one out he doubled to left center. L. Waner's single followed and before the big round was over the Buccos owned four markers.

Bill Swift will challenge the Flatbush Crew this afternoon. The young righthander worked a fine game against Eppa Rixey Saturday, but he lost, owing to the impotence of the Pittsburgh attack. Manager Carey is expected to counter with Southpaw Fred Heimach.

After winning four games in a row from the Buccos in which he started lefthand pitchers, Carey saw one of his forkhand aces go down to defeat in the second game. Bill Clark and French swapped punches like champs through eight rounds, but Clark was solved by the home team in the eighth.

BARBEE HITS TRIPLE

On top of L. Waner's single that scored French with the first run of the game, Vaughan sacrificed and P. Waner walked. In an effort to catch L. Waner off second, Catcher Lopez struck Clark in the head with his throw; as the ball rebounded into left field, L. Waner scored, P. Waner went to second. Clark was not badly hurt and stayed on the slab. Lopez contended L. Waner did not touch third base and was ejected from the game because of the force of his protest.

Barbee followed with a three-bagger to right center, scoring P. Waner, and Pie Traynor smacked a single to right that scored Barbee with the fourth run. French finished strong by retiring three men in a row in the ninth.

Fritz Crisler Leaves For Princeton Post

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, former head football coach and athletic director of the University of Minnesota, bade farewell to the school yesterday and left with Mrs. Crisler by automobile for Princeton to coach football there.

Mr. and Mrs. Crisler planned a brief stop-over in Chicago to visit relatives.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The recent road trip of the Pirates was about as successful as if they'd been traveling salesmen with a line of steam yachts. They ran up plenty of expense bills, but made darn few sales.

Nick Altrock

Just a spell back I thought they were running away with the National League race. I was so sure of it I wrote for a world series reservation in a Pittsburgh hotel, with smoky exposure and hot and cold running beer.

Just then the Bucs began throwing away games like they were sample of soap they were trying to introduce in the eastern territory. The experts claim the Pirates were only in a slump, but I claim they were in a coma.

MRS. ARTZBERGER WINS IN NATIONAL NET TOURNEY

BROIDA-MAITS DEFEATED IN DOUBLES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Sixteen players remained in the national public parks men's singles tennis championship as the result of matches on the Shawnee Park courts yesterday.

Tobe, Buffalo park champion, defeated Fred Englerth, of Dayton, O., in a five-set battle which provided the spectators with some thrilling tennis.

There were no upsets in the women's singles play. Only two of the nine matches completed required extra sets. Constance O'Donovan, Detroit, defeated Alice Brown, Buffalo, in one of them, while Mrs. Jean Artzberger, Pittsburgh, won from Josephine Scarnavack, Chicago, in the other.

In the men's doubles the Pittsburgh team of Frank Broida and Charley Maits was defeated by Morris Appell and Ben Estep, of Dallas, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

Pordea Bests Carnera Referee Is Suspended

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Referee Joe Mangold, who gave the decision to Stanley Poreda in a 10-round bout with Primo Carnera last night, today was suspended indefinitely by the New Jersey State Athletic Commission for what was termed an unpardonable decision. In announcing the suspension, Commissioner George E. Keenan said:

"The decision given by Mangold was the worst I have ever seen. He can't possibly have any excuse for his action, and I have decided to suspend him and keep him suspended until he learns how to judge a fight."

Most newspaper writers at the ringside saw Carnera the winner by a large margin, many scoring eight rounds for the big Italian and only two for Poreda. Many in the crowd, friendly toward Poreda, who lives in New Jersey, gave vocal disapproval of the decision and showered the ring with cushions and straw hats.

HELEN WILLS SILENT

PARIS, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who is studying art in Paris this summer in preference to defending her American national title in the tournament now in progress at Forest Hills, refused today to comment on a report from New York that the United States Lawn Tennis Association had threatened disciplinary action against her.

TYPO FRAYS TODAY

PITCHER CLARK FELLED WITH CATCHER'S THROW

Star southpaw of the Brooklyn Dodgers is shown receiving first aid from Manager Max Carey (right) and Thirdbaseman Joe Stripp after being hit on the head with a thrown ball in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with the Pirates. Catcher Lopez was trying to catch Paul Waner off second when Clark, running to back up third, came in line with the throw. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Oakmont and Fox Chapel, landed in third place with 159.

Fred Brand, Jr., son of the popular Allegheny professional, playing from Shannopin, was fourth. Fred played a great round in the morning, matching Flinn's [illegible] but had plenty of worries in the afternoon, finishing in the first twosome with Denny St. Clair with an 84, for 160.

Watts Gunn, now an Oakmont amateur, who came into the golfing firmament as a star in the 1925 amateur tourney at Oakmont when he went into the final round only to be beaten by the magic of Bobby Jones, was fifth with an 80-81—161 and St. Clair, the West Penn amateur champion, was in the last place for a ducat to Baltimore with an 83-80—163.

CUP STARS QUALIFY

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—All 10 members of the Walker Cup team and seven former titleholders will be on hand when the National amateur golf championship opens at Baltimore September 12.

That much—and more—was determined yesterday in the sectional qualifying rounds played in 18 districts. Nine members of the squad, George Voigt, Maurice McCarthy, Jess Sweetser, George Dunlap, Jack Westland, Don Moe, Billy Howell, Jimmy Johnston and Charley Seaver, qualified in one district or another. The tenth member of the team and its captain, Francis Ouimet, will be the defending champion at Baltimore and thus was exempt from the qualifying round.

District play, in fact, developed few surprises as almost all the veteran stars and most of the youngsters made the grade. Among the qualifiers, for instance, were Johnny Goodman, Frank Dolp, Lawson Little, Roland MacKenzie, Johnny Lehman, George Dawson, Johnny Fischer, intercollegiate champion from Cincinnati; Cyril Tolley, Gene Homans, Gus Moreland, and the two Gunn boys, Watts and Will, Jr. Canada will be represented in the championship by C. Ross Somerville, of London, Ont., and Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto.

DORMONT MAY GAIN GROUND

The Dormont baseball club, defending champion in the City League, has another opportunity this evening to approach close to the title in the second half of the City League race by defeating Book's when the latter team appears at the Dormont High School Field.

Heinie Boll and his Olympia Park outfit did the South Hills boys a favor when they defeated the Thomas nine Monday. If Dormont is to win out in the second half, it must defeat the first-half rulers this evening.

Roscoe will twirl for Dormont, while Book's likely will send Steele to the mound.

WOMEN GAIN SEMI-FINALS

Mrs. Margaret Curry, medalist and defending champion, will oppose Mrs. Myrtle Stearns and Miss Edith Clark will meet Mrs. Carrie Josephson in semi-final round matches in the annual city women's golf championship at the Schenley Park municipal links tomorrow.

Mrs. Curry, who has been playing brilliant golf ever since the tournament opened, continued her fine shot-making today in putting out Miss Kitty McLaughlin, 6 and 4. Mrs. Stearns was extended in taking the measure of Mrs. Betty Schwartz, 2 up, and Miss Clark, who is regarded as Mrs. Curry's most dangerous title rival, experienced plenty of difficulty in eliminating Mrs. H. Masury, 1 up. Mrs. Josephson advanced at the expense of Mrs. C. E. Brinkman, 4 and 2.

Results of matches in other flights:

First sixteen consolations—Miss R. Chapman defeated Mrs. M. C. Jones, 4 and 1; Mrs. R. Wagner defeated Mrs. J. M. Waechter, 1 up; Mrs. O. L. Long defeated Miss M. Emerich by default; Mrs. A. G. Vallerstadt defeated Mrs. Eva Blair, by default.

Second sixteen—Miss C. Ruch defeated Mrs. M. J. McMahon, 6 and 5; Mrs. T. H. Stevenson defeated Miss Alice McLaughlin, 2 and 1; Mrs. Z. Rigamont defeated Mrs. F. W. Zwundel, 7 and 6; Miss M. Cuden defeated Mrs. Ben Golomb, 4 and 3.

Second sixteen consolations—Mrs. F. Frinz defeated Mrs. F. B. Smith, 3 and 1; Miss F. Arnold defeated Mrs. R. F. McAnaly, 2 up; Mrs. F. E. Donald defeated Miss B. Arnold, 2 and 1; Mrs. J. H. Cowell defeated Miss L. Isaacs, 6 and 5.

Senators Increase Mid-Atlantic Lead

Charleston increased its lead over Beckley in the Middle Atlantic League second-half race yesterday by defeating Huntington, 1 to 0, as the Knights bowed to Cumberland's Colts, 5 to 1.

The Senators now lead by two and one-half games.

Johnstown won a closely contested battle with Clarksburg, 2 to 1.

LOCAL NETTERS ADVANCE AT WHEELING

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN
Staff Correspondent.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Steel City racqueters continue their quest of Wheeling Park invitation tourney honors on local rectangles today. Five of an original Pittsburgh group of seven retain position in men's singles competition, while six of the contingent remain in the race for doubles laurels.

Billy O'Loughlin, P. A. A. ace, and Eddie Alcorn, Pitt captain, head the third round assault against Mountaineer and Buckeye talent, the Winged Header meeting Fred Selby, cagy Martins Ferry contender, while Alcorn battles Bob Beltz, home junior from Loyola College.

LAMPUS PLAYS ALLEN

Bob Lampus, of Shannopin, encounters Jim Allen, hard-hitting Elkins stylist; Andy Smeaton, Edgewood luminary, takes on Fred A. Kellmeyer, Wheeling youngster; Paul Sullivan, P. A. A., tangles with Bill Abrams, Pleasant Valley husky and first seeded entry.

Bud Leyda, blond Shannopin youth, fell from Pa Pitt's ranks yesterday in a stiff second-stanza tussle with Skib Front, Michigan University star, 6-1, 7-5.

O'Loughlin registered in love sets over Charles Keys, of Bellaire, and Alcorn did likewise with Vic Arman, New Martinsville performer. Lampus tossed Johnny Woods, West Virginia all-state quarterback, for a 6-3, 6-4 loss.

Smeaton, towering over diminutive junior Zink, 13-year-old Steubenville city champion, eliminated the Ohioan, 6-1, 6-1. In an all-Pittsburgh fracas, Sullivan nosed out Bill McKenna, of Carnegie Tech, 6-3, 7-5.

DOUBLES TEAMS WIN

All three Pittsburgh dual outfits breezed through with decisive triumphs. Alcorn and Smeaton clicked off the Wheelingites, Hawker and Wagner, 6-3, 6-0.

Lampus and Leyda defeated Ross Kitchen, of Maple Springs, New York, and Bill Steger, local satellite, 6-1, 6-2. O'Loughlin and Sullivan downed Weisgerber and Dunaway, 6-0, 6-1.

MISS UNDERWOOD CHAMP

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Mildred Underwood, of California, Pa., retained the women's golf championship at Nemacolin for the fifth time yesterday when she defeated Mrs. R. C. Coyle, of Charleroi, 4 and 3.

HELEN JACOBS ADVANCES

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The difference between a champion and a near-champion sometimes is so slight that it takes a professional observer to locate the dividing line.

Take the case of Helen Jacobs, sometimes known as "Queen Helen II," who apparently is on the verge of winning the women's national tennis crown for the first time after six years of earnest effort.

Against almost any woman in the world, except Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, whom she never has quite been able to beat, Miss Jacobs looks to the lay eye like a near perfect tennis player. Those who watched her subdue such a star as Virginia Rice by scores of 6-1, 6-0, in the second round of the championship tournament yesterday, found it difficult to understand why she never has been able to break through when the big title was at stake.

The feature match on today's program brought together Virginia Hilleary, seventh seeded American, and Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman, leader of the English forces. Joan Ridley, of England, also faced some stern opposition in Alice Marble, San Francisco girl, who yesterday sprang the first upset of the meet in defeating Sarah Palfrey.

OFFICE NINE WINS

Aided by breaks, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph circulation baseball team defeated the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph drivers in a mushball game at Greenlee Field yesterday, 9-1. Grant, pitcher for the victors, helped his own cause with a home run.

By JAMES MILLER

A chance to fight a champion still looms for Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw, if he again is successful in defeating Willie Davies, veteran Charleroi boxer, in their return main bout at Greenlee Field tomorrow night.

Last winter at Motor Square Garden, Mose won by a technical knockout over Davies in the first round when a punch opened a deep cut in Davies' mouth and the bout was stopped. As a result of the win, Butch was to be matched with Al Brown, Negro holder of the bantamweight title, but Brown was taken ill on his arrival in town and the bout was postponed. When Brown went to Europe, the match completely fell through.

Now, Jules Beck, matchmaker at the Hill arena, is holding a letter from Brown's manager, Dave Luminasky, to the effect that he would be glad to come here and fulfill his contract against Butch. Brown boxed Spider Pladner in a 10-round bout at Montreal last night.

Between Rounds

The Greenlee Park card was completed with the signing of Al Becker, of Sheraden, and Jimmy Vaughn, of Johnstown, middleweights, for the six-round opening bout. Nat Litin, a pleasing little fighter of the Hill, boxes Jack Wilson, Negro bantamweight of Homewood, in the eight-round semi-final. Jacquette Averillo, a hard-punching welterweight, is in with Joey Speigal, of Uniontown, in the second six-rounder.

The supporting card for the George Panka-Frank Novak heavyweight "natural" at Hickey Park, Millvale, Monday night, has been completed. Patsy Henigan, of Clairton, who has scored nine straight knockouts, meets Joe Marcus, of New York, in the six-round semi-final. In the two other bouts, Lloyd Clements, of Jeannette, boxes Ray Jennings, Negro lightweight, of Homestead, in the second number and Jerry Clements, brother of Lloyd, takes on Al Farrone, of the West End, who is handled by Big-Hearted Gus Camp, are in the opener. The Gizzy-Baxter bout at Millvale last Monday night drew $3,100 according to the promoters.

Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, of New Orleans, who fought Tony Herrera to a draw at Meyersdale early this summer, boxes Dick Sisk, at Chicago tonight.

Clippings of the Ted Yarosz-Wolfe bout at Detroit last Friday night bring word that the bout was very, very close, and that a strong finish after a slow start was just what won for Ted. The bout drew a gate of $4,338. AnADA they ask 35 per cent for their fighters!

Bill Simendinger, manager of Frank Novak, recalls when he refereed Novak's first amateur fight in a tournament at Motor Square Garden against Leo Clements, of Jeannette. Clements scored a technical knockout over Novak when he cut Frank's lip in the second round and Bill stopped the fight. A year later the same two met in the seniors' tournament at the same place, and again Bill was the third man in the ring. This time Novak turned the tables on Clements and knocked him cold in two heats. Not a technical knockout, but one with the referee waving his finger 10 times over the prostrate Clements. Hello, Mr. Buntack!

Fight Results

At Newark, N. J.—Stanley Poreda defeated Primo Carnera, 10 rounds; Walter Cobb knocked out Chester Matam, 5 rounds; Steve Chevas defeated Ira Miller, 4 rounds; Maxie Fished defeated Skeets Dundee, 6 rounds; Al Reid and Joe Longo drew, 4 rounds.

At Boston—Nap Proulx defeated Manny Davis, 10 rounds.

At Fort Worth—Gus Campbell defeated Babe Manella, 8 rounds.

At Indianapolis—Roy Wallace defeated Jess Allen, 10 rounds.

At New York—Vincent Mariconda defeated Abe Schulman, 4 rounds.

SULLIVAN BACK AS COACH

W. F. (Bill) Sullivan is in again as head football coach at McKeesport High School. The well liked mentor was re-elected last night by the McKeesport Board of Education at an annual salary of $1,600.

Sullivan, who was the center of a controversy last year, was sponsored by Dr. J. B. Richey, superintendent of schools. Sullivan lacked the necessary credits to make him a full fledged instructor, as is required by the P. I. A. A., and for that reason he was slated to go. He acquired the credits, however, and was returned to the post he first took over in 1928. W. A. Clees, Joseph Lynch, Johnny Timson and Albert Klasary will serve as his assistants.

Frank Buchanan, captain of the 1921 state championship team, was re-elected basketball coach and Arthur Fallquist baseball coach.

HARNESS RACES TODAY

Forbes

The Foolish Parent and Wise (?) Son

By B. C. FORBES

A SON HAD a foolish father—so he thought. The old man hadn't the right idea about money and business.

He kept on spending millions advertising the family product n otwithstanding that the s o n assured him everybody knew how good i t was, as proved by the s t e a d i l y increasing sales.

B. C. Forbes

A l s o, the e x t r a vagant father persisted in squandering a shocking amount of m o n e y in maintaining a research department for the purpose of trying to make the product better and better and to think up other things to expand demand.

The old man, instead of pocketing all the profit and using it to enable himself and his son—especially the son—to live in glittering regal style, was obsessed by the notion that most of the profits should be "plowed back into the business," as he called it.

Since the son was the only child, he felt sourly rebellious against all these nonsensical, deplorable ways of dissipating his patrimony.

But the stubborn old gentleman would not listen to reason.

When he died he left the son only two-three millions outside the business, a business that was yielding enormous yearly profits despite all the wasting of money on advertising and research.

THE SON lost no time in putting his ideas into effect.

INHERITANCE taxes were heavy and there were a number of substantial bequests to meet. This presented no problem whatsoever to the son. He ordered all advertising cancelled.

Next he made a clean sweep of the rather queer specimens of humanity who comprised the research department.

HE FIGURED how much these savings would total per annum—and became intoxicated by the vision of wealth that would flow torrentially into his lap.

The world contained nothing he could not now command. He forthwith launched upon expenditures befitting an opulent emperor. His world-beating yacht, his palaces and his other rapidly-acquired possessions raised him high in the limelight. This he enormously enjoyed.

OF COURSE, he had little time to spare for business. That didn't matter, because the product was so attractive that it sold itself in glorious volume.

FIVE YEARS passed.

AFTER THE death duties and the bequests were paid, he found that his own lavish acquisitions cost a lot and that his new scale of living consumed cash faster than he had anticipated.

So he kept on using for his own purposes the money which formerly went into advertising and research.

FATE THEN began to deal him mysterious, cruel, unfair blows. The competitor whom he had always haughtily regarded as of no account was eating heavily into his business. This competitor had as foolish notions as his father; he advertised more and more extensively each year as his sales mounted, he paid a ludicrous salary to the fellow who headed his puny-but-growing research department, he frequently made changes in the appearance of the product and claimed that the quality also was being greatly improved.

Somehow the public were gullable enough to swallow such claims, with the result that this upstart's sales eclipsed his own.

As production went down, profits went down even faster. To maintain his princely style of living, it became necessary to saddle the property with as heavy a mortgage as he could raise.

WHEN THE sheriff loomed on the horizon—but not until then—he suddenly realized that perhaps his father had not been such a fool after all. He would imitate him.

P. S. MAYBE there is a timely moral in at least part of this tale.

STOCK MARKET FALLS UNDER SELLING

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The stock market backed and filled rather uneasily today.

The bond market was fairly firm, but bullish efforts in shares received little support from the commodity markets, and traders showed an inclination to take quick profits. Bullish efforts to get a following in the motion picture and public utility issues met with a limited success.

The list pushed up 1 to 3 points here and there inthe morning, but reacted to show losses of 1 to 4 just after noon. American Telephone's regular dividend announcement brought a momentary rally. American Telephone, after rising a point to 115 early, dropped to 112, and recovered but little on the dividend news. Losses of 3 and 4 points in Union Pacific and Case were partially regained. United States Steel lost about a point. Strong spots in the morning rise were Loew's and American Water Works, up about 3, and they resisted selling later fairly well. Westinghouse rose 2, and Bangor and Aroostock 3, to new 1932 highs.

Inasmuch as the list as a whole was halted as it approached the upper resistance levels of last week in the rise early yesterday, traders were inclined to pursue a somewhat more cautious attitude fora time, pending more decisive indications that the rally was to be resumed. The rather erratic swingsin the list both yesterday and today also tended to make for caution. Foreign buying is said by brokers with foreign connections to have subsided during the past few days, although a little continues to trickle in, coming even from such far lands as India. On the other hand, there has been no rush on the part of foreigners to take profits.

American Telephone's regular dividend had been rather confidently forecast in well-informed quarters, so that it had been fairly well discounted in advance. Nevertheless, it was felt in some quarters that the full disbursement would not have been ordered, without some decidedly hopeful indications of business improvement. Telephone disconnections in June and July reached record numbers, but are unofficially said to have diminished somewhat of late. Recent earnings nevertheless are understood to have been sharply under the $9 annual dividend rate.

Bullish efforts in the stock market received little support from midweek business statistics. The bidding up of the motion picture stocks was based on the fact that theater atendance usually picks up sharply ni the autumn, and in recent months, the companies have drastically reduced their expenses. The weekly electric power production figures were about a standoff. While showing a slight decline from the previous week, the degree of reduction from last year remained unchanged at13.1 per cent.

STEEL DEMAND SCATTERED

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—While encouraging signs of prospective business improvement are not lacking, steel ingot production has not been above 14 per cent of the country's capacity, Iron Age said today. This is unchanged from last week's rate. The report says:

The slowing down in the automobile industry, including the Ford suspensions, has come at a time when expected seasonal expansion in requirements in other consuming lines has scarcely begun to assert itself. However, at Chicago the steel orders from miscellaneous sources have taken up the slack caused by smaller releases from the automobile industry.

On the brighter side can be recorded a noticeable gain in demand for pig iron, including a number of inquiries of fairly good size for fourth quarter delivery, continuing strength in scrap markets, the resumption of steel buying on a small scale by many manufacturers whose plants have been wholly or partially shut down during recent weeks, and seasonal orders and inquiries from consumers whose business normally expands in the fall, such as stove and furnace makers.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc., reports for 6 months ended June 30, net loss of $117,600, after taxes, depreciation, etc., comparing with net income of $580,179 in the first half of 1931.

PARK TENNIS EVENT DRAW ANNOUNCED

The South Park tennis tournament, which will be opened on the South Park courts Monday morning, will be one of the biggest, in the matter of number of entries, to be staged in the Pittsburgh district this season.

Ten rounds of competition will be required to determine the champion in the men's singles milling, and six rounds of play will be reeled off before the women's titleholder is known.

In the doubles competition 90 men's teams have been entered, and 12 women's teams have filed entries.

The tournament is to be directed by William S. Haddock, new parks athletic director. The draw and starting times:

Beyond this vale of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the Shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.
In loving memory of Matilda Martha Short (nee Hoffman), who was called to rest August 17, 1930. Her unselfish devotion and goodness continue in the memory of husband, son and daughter.

BLONDIE OF THE FOLLIES

From Which M. G. M. Has Made A Motion Picture Starring Marion Davies

By FRANCES MARION

Blondie Forsakes Luxurious Apartment and Goes to Hotel to Live

CHAPTER XXI.

As the car stopped at the curb in front of Blondie's apartment, she said:

"Come on up."

"All right—but just for a minute," and Lurline followed her out.

"That's just how long I'll be," quietly from Blondie.

"What are you talking about?"

"You'll see." Blondie's answer was noncommittal as she stepped into the elevator.

Looking at her grimly determined face, Lurline knew it was no time to ask questions. They rode to the roof in silence. Blondie hurried to the door of her penthouse and threw it wide open. A blast of loud voices and laughter mingled with wild music greeted them. For just an instant Blondie stood listening, then she went in, followed by Lurline.

Loud cheers welcomed the two girls as they entered the drawing room. Drinks were quickly poured and offered with much banter. Lurline accepted gayly. Blondie pushed hers away without a smile and looked hastily around the room. Catching sight of Mortimer Pratt over in a corner of the room talking to two girls, she crossed directly to him. Blondie's attitude was so out of spirit with the party, her face so ominously determined, that as she moved across the large room a sudden hush enveloped the little groups, and they watched in silence.

SAYS SHE IS THROUGH

As she approached, Pratt placed his glass on a nearby table and turned to her smiling.

"May I see you alone for a moment?" Blondie asked, ignoring his greeting.

"Of course, sweetheart," and he followed her out of the room. Leading the way to her bedroom, Blondie waited for him to close the door.

"You've been awfully nice to me," she said, without emotion. "But I can't go on. I—I'm through with all this."

Mortimer Pratt was a little bit amazed. "Why, I thought you'd like a little gaiety after . . ."

"It isn't that," she interrupted. Then, calmly and finally. "I'm through with it all—now or any other time . . . I can't go on any longer. I appreciate what you've done . . . and thank you. But I'm leaving all this . . . leaving now."

Pratt looked at her anxiously. "You can't mean that . . . you're just upset by . . ."

"Everything. There's no use—I realize it now. I'm going, that's all." She met his gaze squarely. He looked at her intently, then shrugged, refusing to take her seriously.

"Well, let's not discuss it now," with a little smile. "Come on and join the party." He turned without waiting for a reply. As he reached the door, Blondie called:

"Goodbye."

LEAVES JEWELS BEHIND

He turned, grinning broadly. "I'll be waiting for you," and closed the door.

For a moment Blondie stood looking thoughtfully at the door. Then she turned, rang for the maid, and stepped over to the dressing table.

Quickly crossing the room she stood before an oil painting. Lifting it from the wall, she slipped its prop into place and turned the dial on a small safe. Unlocking it, she took out an exquisite jewel case and returned to the dressing table. Opening a secret drawer she took out several pieces of jewelry. Then she opened the jewel case, disclosing precious diamonds, rubies and emeralds set in platinum rings, bracelets and pins. Almost carelessly she dropped the jewelry in her hands into the case. Then she unclasped the string of pearls around her neck, and put it in the jewel case drawer containing several other necklaces. Quickly she took off her diamond wrist watch and laid it on top of the pearls. Then she hurried across the room, replaced the case, locked the safe and replaced the picture. The maid entered.

"Get me the small bag and my overnight case," Blondie ordered, as she began to gather up a few personal things, ignoring the maid's surprised stare. In a few minutes the bags were packed.

"Take these out the back way and tell James to meet me downstairs. Tell him not to put them in the car," she ordered.

As the maid went out Blondie took one last look around the lavish bedroom. There was not a shadow of regret in her eyes as she left the room.

As Blondie reached the richly furnished foyer of the apartment the chauffeur stood there with her bags.

"Put them in a taxi," she ordered. "You can wait for Mr. Pratt."

"Where to?" the driver asked as she settled back in the cab.

"Through Central Park," Blondie wanted to be alone to think.

THINKS OF LARRY

So Pratt refused to take her leaving seriously, she thought, as the cab wound its way in and out of the heavy traffic. Funny about men—that they could apparently know their women so well, yet never know them! It's certain that Pratt never knew her and never would. Wonder what he would say when he found out that she had left. Well, she was away from it all now—and for good!

But where should she go, she wondered. Home was impossible. Particularly now that the family was to be cut down to just what she could earn in the Follies. Home wouldn't be like that if Pa were there—he'd understand. Poor Pa! If he could only be here now—she could cry it out on his shoulder—he'd tell her what was best to do. She couldn't go to Lurline's—hadn't she just left that sort of life! It was all so futile—

As the taxi pulled into Central Park Blondie's mind flashed to Larry. Remember that early morning ride through here . . . it seemed so terribly long ago—wonder where Larry was? Now, if she could only go to him—but that was impossible. She hadn't seen him for weeks—he never tried any more . . .

Blondie never knew how long she rode, her mind flashing back and forth over the past few months. She only knew by every bit of reasoning power that she was right in taking the step she had taken. Suddenly she thought of the time. She must go some place and then to the theater.

"The Barbara Hotel," she told the driver. That was an idea. Several of the girls stayed there—it was handy to the theater. If they could do it, she could, thought Blondie as the cab turned out of the park and into the heavy traffic again.

* * *

"What's happened to Blondie?" Lurline interrupted Pratt directing the Locke Twins in a new dance, as the party was at its height.

"She'll be out in a few minutes," as he reached for his glass of champagne on the piano. "Not feeling very well."

"But she's been in there an hour . . . I'll go see . . ."

"No, I'll go," Pratt answered quickly.

He entered the bedroom without knocking. Not seeing Blondie, he closed the door softly.

"Blondie!" he called toward the bathroom.

When there was no answer he threw open the door and looked in. Then he quickly looked around the bedroom with an appraising eye. He went to the wardrobe closet. Lines of fur coats, dresses and suits met his quick gaze. He almost ran over to the wall safe. He opened it quickly and clutched at the jewel case. Throwing open the lid he gazed with a half smile at its glittering contents. So she hadn't left, after all, thought Pratt, as he replaced the jewel case, locked the safe and left the room.

Asthma Yields to Doctor's Discovery

Indianapolis—What is regarded as an amazing advance in medical science is the discovery of the actual cause of Bronchial Asthma and Hay Fever by the well-known Dr. Fugate. He found the cause of these ailments originates from an unbalanced condition of the endocrine glands. After finding the cause he perfected an effective treatment that has already been used in thousands of cases, and the reports of immediate relief indicate that at last help for Bronchial Asthma and Hay Fever has been found. An important booklet telling in detail about his discovery and treatment has been published by The Fugate Co., Dept. 8458, 126 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., who offer to send it free. Those troubled with Bronchial Asthma or Hay Fever should write at once.

Scream From Bungalow Plays Havoc With Madge's Nerves

As the sudden yelping sound came to my ears from the bungalow where Lee Chow and Hugh Grantland, together with my father, Harry and Dicky were interrogating the bound Chinese miscreants who had refused to answer Lee Chow's questions, I first burrowed deep into the bedclothing, pulling the sheet and coverlet over my head. Then, ashamed of my cowardice, I arose and hurried to the window that overlooked the bungalow.

But I could see nothing. They all must be in the inner room, I figured, and I strained my ears for a repetition of the sound. But it was something entirely different that I heard next, a soft fumbling at my door, and all my nervousness went into my voice as I shakily called, "Who's there?"

"It's I, Lil! let me in," and I ran to the door with eagerness. I had no desire to be longer alone upon this terrible night.

"Oh, Lillian! What is it? What are they doing?" I gasped when she came through the door. She shut and locked it in silence; then she spoke crisply.

"I thought so!" she said, with something in her voice that made me suddenly flush. "I might have known better than to leave you alone. What's the matter now?"

"Did you hear?" I asked frankly.

"Yes, I heard," she returned, "and we'll probably hear more if we listen instead of going to sleep as our men asked us to do. The Lawd he knows they're trying their best to keep any unpleasantness from us."

LILLIAN EXPLAINS

"But, Lillian!" I said, amazed at her apparent unconcern. "They've built a fire in the grate over there, and—"

"Sit down," she said sharply, "while I tell you the facts of life in words of one syllable where possible."

"I didn't imagine that scream," I said sulkily.

"No, you didn't, but you are trumping up some perfectly fantastic reasons for the sound. Now, please listen to me for an hour or two, will you?"

The corners of her mouth were quirked into a grin, and the tension of my nerves lessened.

"I'll try," I said demurely.

"There, that's better," she said briskly. "Of course, I know what you've got in your noodle, movie ideas of confessions wrung by torture, and all the rest of the bunk. Now, I don't deny that no doubt those two fiends over there—and that's the word for 'em, nothing less—are getting a soupcon—so slight as not to be worthy of the name—of the medicine they've administered many a time to such poor wrecks as that old chap in the library. They are also being frightened very realistically out of what senses they have. I'd like to be in a hidden corner, because I'll bet the proceedings are a mixture of college hazing and secret society rituals, flavored with the fine medieval touch of Lee Chow. Remember the timeworn stunt of the glowing poker end, the piece of ice and the smell of burning cloth? It's given cannier lads than those two the willies."

WORK CUT OUT

I suppose my face showed my incredulity, for she suddenly grinned knowingly.

"Yes, I'll admit those lads might not be fooled very long by that stunt," she said. "But what I want to get over to you is this. Do you think that men like Dicky and Harry and the chief and Hugh and Lee Chow, are going to do anything very terrifying? Can't you trust them to do no more than put into the black hearts of those rats the fear of their particular joss?"

"Oh! I know," I said, contrite at last. "I shouldn't doubt them. But it was all so——"

"And then some," she acquiesced. "I quite agree with you. And it will be more so before the night is over. The boys have their work cut out for them with those birds. But once they get out of them what Lee Chow wants, I fancy it will mean a chance for him and Hugh to rest and lead normal lives awhile."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Saturday's meeting of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club at the Belmar Theater was very successful, not only from the standpoint of attendance, but also from the class and type of entertainment offered for the benefit of the members.

Henry LaPertche, as the Grand Jester, opened the meeting with the reading of the club pledge and by leading the members in the salute to the flag. Henry is a little chap who specializes in acrobatic tap dancing, and who, notwithstanding his size, is full of vim, vigor and vitality which, plus his energy and effort to please, makes him well liked by the members who co-operate with him fully. When Henry requests quiet each and every boy and girl in the theater listens very attentatively to the announcements he is about to make.

TOLD OF LUCKY BUCKS

After the opening ceremonies Henry introduced Manager Harry Seigel to the members who told them about the big day at Kennywood Park, August 26, and about the Lucky Bucks which appear in the Sun-Telegraph daily and Sunday.

Mr. Seigle also told the members about the meeting next Saturday when he is going to have a watermellon eating contest for the boys and girls, a pie eating contest and a dog show for the members with appropriate prizes for the members having the winning dogs. The "Texas Rangers," also will attend the next meeting and will entertain with songs that were sung by the cowboys long, long ago.

Grand Jester LaPertche then acted as Master of Ceremonies and introduced the following acts:

Helen May Connor surprised the members with a clever acrobatic dance; Leah Gazzo sang one of the popular songs of the day. This was followed by two little girls known as "Dot and Josie" who sang "Somebody Loves You" and after singing the first chorus did a very clever tap dance. Alice Polombo offered as her part of the entertainment the song made famous by Eddie Cantor, "Potatoes Are Cheaper" with the audience joining her in singing the chorus. Eleanor Tropf closed the entertainment by singing a brand new number for the members "Holding My Honey's Hand."

A plea was made to the members of the South Hills chapter of the club at last Saturday's meeting for any member who can play a musical instrument to join the Junior Komic Club Orchestra, which already has been organized and to date has 12 members. Rehearsals will be held each morning this week at the South Hills Theater, and any member of the Junior Komic Club living in the vicinity of this theater is urged to attend these rehearsals and join the newly organized orchestra.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, date and year of your birth, school you attend, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed to you.

The Benefit of the Doubt

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

MY WORD, JO! WHAT HAPPENED? RUNNING DOWNSTAIRS TO MEET ME WHEN I GET HOME. WHAT...?
OH GEORGE! - GUMBO... MARGY... GOING TO LEAVE... THIS EVENING. I LAY AWAKE HALF THE NIGHT THINKING OF WHAT I'D TELL HER IF SHE GOT SNIPPY TODAY AND SURE ENOUGH SHE DID.
LEAVING? THEM? ARE YOU SURE? POSITIVE? WE'VE FELT THAT WAY SO OFTEN...
MARGY SIMPLY SCREAMED AT ME, THINKING OF COURSE THAT I'D BE AFRAID TO HAVE THESE NEIGHBORS HEAR WHAT SHE SAID ABOUT MY PEOPLE. WELL I SCREAMED RIGHT BACK AT HER..
GOING AWAY! THINK OF IT. WELL OF COURSE ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN IN THESE DAYS BUT...
THE LOUDER SHE HOWLED THE MORE DETERMINED I WAS NOT TO BACK DOWN. AND WHILE SHE WAS REMINDING ME OF THINGS, I TOLD HER A LOT ABOUT HER SISTER THAT OPENED HER EYES.
GUMBO IS OUT NOW HUSTLING AROUND, I KNOW, TO TRY AND FIND BUNGLES WHO ARE AS EASY-GOING AS US. AFTER SUPPER THEY'LL LEAVE, SHE SAID.
WELL, GOOD LUCK TO GUMBO. I MEAN ABOUT FINDING A BUNGLE TO LET THEM IN. WISHING GUMBO GOOD LUCK IN A THING LIKE THAT IS SORT OF PUTTING A CURSE ON SOMEBODY, BUT EVERYONE FOR HIMSELF IN A SITUATION LIKE THIS.

Cycling has taken first place among all classes and demands recognition from young and old, affording rapid transit and healthful recreation. What of the etiquette of cycling? It is imperative, though elastic. A comfortable saddle, high and wide in the rear, narrower in front, is convenient. Bell and cyclometer are pleasureable fads. A lady can be as reserved on her bicycle as in her parlor—and will never permit a stranger to accost her except in case of accident. The cyclist's slogan should be, "Assist the timid, but never mock at awkwardness." Breathe thru the nostrils. The moment a cyclist opens the mouth you may know he is overtaxed. Carry an ammonia gun for barking dogs. When they run in your path you may take a "header." Raise your hat to a passing lady only when you are an expert. Never leave the bicycle in a dark hall for people to stumble over.

A Sales Tax for Relief

It Is Better to Endure the Nuisance Than to Let the Unemployed Starve.

Legislative leaders and Gov. Pinchot have agreed on a general 1 per cent sales tax to raise money for the relief of Pennsylvania's unemployed.

The tax will be a nuisance. Many objections can be raised to it. Yet it is better that we should endure the nuisance than that we should let the destitute starve.

The Legislature has been in session for more than seven weeks. It looked as if it might adjourn without passing any kind of revenue-raising legislation. Then came a clamor of protest from many parts of the state, particularly Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, with the result that the sales tax was agreed upon.

A better solution of the problem might have been found. But let us not shed futile tears over what might have been. Let us accept the sales tax, if finally enacted, as cheerfully as we can, and be grateful that nothing worse was imposed.

After all, the medicine is to be administered in homeopathic doses, so its bitterness will not be unendurable; moreover, the tax is to terminate with the passing of the crisis that made it necessary.

Having shouldered a considerable part of the burden of unemployment relief itself, Pennsylvania will be in position to ask the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for supplementary aid.

The outlook for next winter is brighter.

Suspicious Conduct

Side-Tracking of Harris Resolution Casts Doubt on Republican Organization's Sincerity.

Under pressure of public opinion the state Republican organization has decided that an investigation by the Senate of Gov. Pinchot's charge that the Public Service Commission was corrupted by public utilities companies cannot be dodged. Some sort of inquiry will be made.

The organization's sincerity is open to question, however. Its henchmen in the Senate are behaving suspiciously.

If it were the organization's desire to conduct a thorough inquiry in good faith, the logical thing to do would be to approve the resolution introduced by Senator Frank J. Harris, calling for such an inquiry and designating Attorney General William A. Schnader as counsel.

Harris is fearless and independent, and has the confidence of the people. He would make a splendid chairman for the investigating committee.

Because of his independence he apparently is not acceptable to the Republican organization, which desires someone in charge who will be subservient to its wishes. That is the most reasonable explanation of the side-tracking of the Harris resolution in favor of another resolution which will put the organization in command of whatever investigation may be made.

The state Republican organization has been sympathetic with the public utilities companies in clashes between the companies and the people. The Republican organization has sought to protect the utilities from investigation. Consequently any investigation of the utilities under the direction of ths Republican organization will not have the full confidence of the people.

The full appropriations committee should be called to consider the Harris resolution. The power to deal with the matter should not be left in the hands of a few bosses.

The Coal Rate Struggle

The Fight for Fair Freight Charges Will Go on Until Justice Is Done.

The struggle for fair railroad rates on coal shipments from the Pittsburgh district to the Great Lakes is revived in the clashing of conflicting interests over the proposal of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway to reduce rates to meet a cut that has been placed in effect by the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad.

The Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie have taken a hand in the matter, Kentucky operators have demanded that they be given a reduced rate, and the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau is intervening. The upshot no doubt will be another thrashing over of the lake cargo rate question before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The question has been before the commission in one form or another a half dozen times in the last 10 years. Decisions which it was thought had finally disposed of the matter did not dispose of it, nor will it be disposed of until justice is done.

Pennsylvania's soft coal business has been dealt a serious blow by unfair railroad rates on shipments to the Great Lakes, Kentucky and West Virginia, favored with a ridiculously low differential, have taken away from us hundreds of thousands of tons of coal sales annually.

The fight will go on until Pittsburgh gets fair rates.

New Tax Payment Plan

Education Should Benefit by the Arrangement for Paying School Levy in Installments.

Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, believes there will be fewer delinquencies in the payment of school taxes as the result of the passage by the Legislature of a law authorizing the payment of taxes in installments. If he is right, it means that more money will be available for the schools, and our educational system should profit accordingly.

It is but reasonable to suppose that citizens who find it difficult to gather together the whole amount of the tax and who consequently make no effort to pay it will be encouraged to meet their civic duty when it is made easier for them through the acceptance by the tax collector of periodical payments—monthly, quarterly or semi-annually.

School boards should move promptly to take advantage of the new system. They are required to pass a resolution authorizing the school treasurer to use the installment plan for collections.

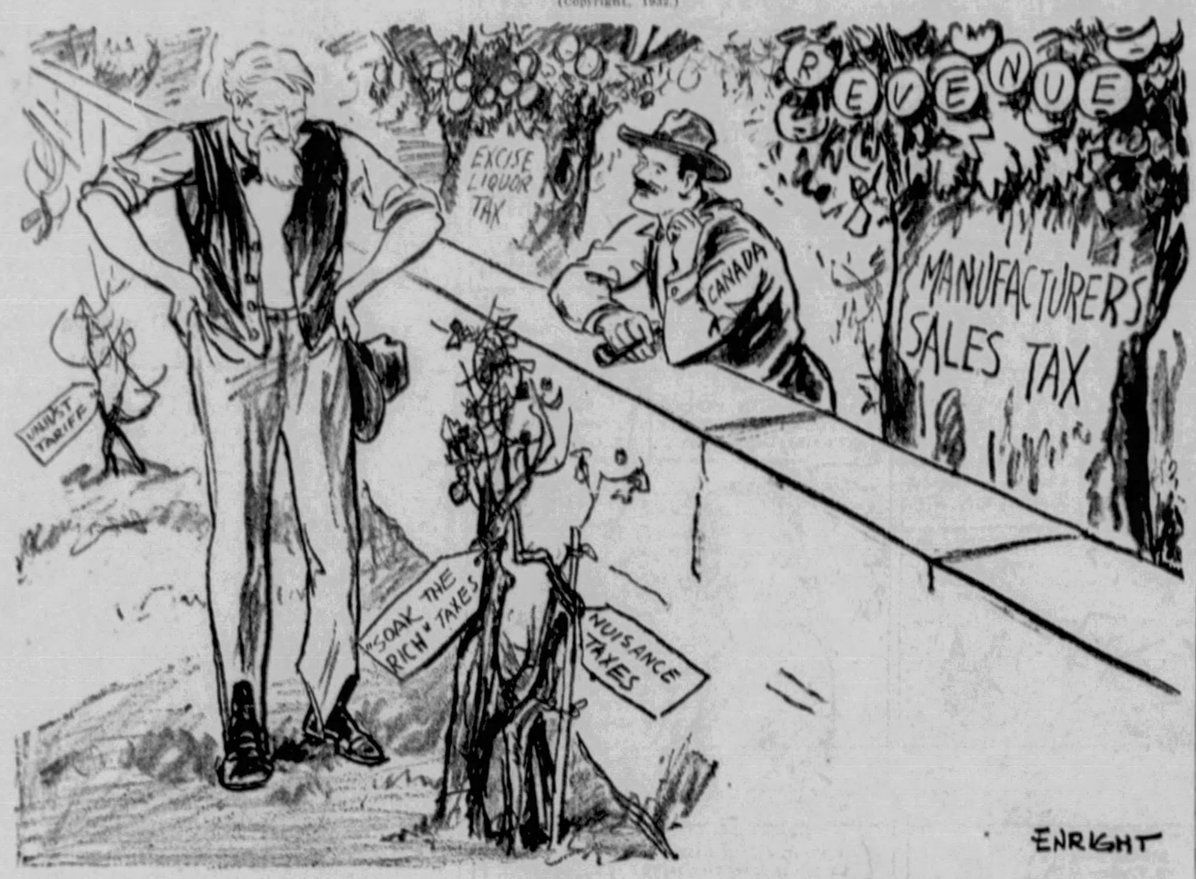
"A Bumper Crop, Sam, and No Worries!"

(Copyright, 1932.)



Sam is learning that peaches do not grow on lemon trees.

He learns to his dismay that his revenue-raising efforts are futile, that the expected yield of dollars to run the government is not forthcoming. AND HE MUST TURN TO SOME OTHER SOURCE OF REVENUE.

Canada, with a wise taxation system, can give Samuel some valuable pointers. In Canada, as in every place it has been adopted, a MANUFACTURERS' SALES TAX, called there a "painless" tax, because it is the least burdensome of all, yields a far greater revenue than the income tax and almost as much as the customs tariff.

It would do the same for Uncle Sam. A 5 per cent general Manufacturers' Sales Tax, it is estimated, would produce ONE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS YEARLY. An excise liquor tax, provided Congress yields to the prevailing sentiment for modification of the Volstead Act and the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, would produce nearly ONE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS MORE. Budget balancing THEN would be a comparatively simple matter. The income tax could be done away with and nuisance taxes abolished.

The December Congress should take its cue from Canada and adopt the enlightened tax plan that is so effective in the Dominion.

Bunk That Goes Out Of This Campaign

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The American people are to be congratulated on the fact that in the very nature of things the speakers with whom the public will be patient in this campaign will deal with the realities and get down to cases.

Never within the memory of living man has there been a campaign in which bunk has counted for less. The deluge of disaster has swept away so many myths, fallacies and falsehoods that there is little left but the realities.

It is interesting at this juncture to put down the "argumens" and "appeals" that no longer will serve. The mere utterance of them in the present situation would be a mockery of public intelligence and worse than useless. Let's see what some of them are.

* * *

"Democratic Panic" Bugaboo Exploded

"The Republican party means prosperity and the Democratic party means panic."

It is significant of the short memories of the majority of people that this ever has been able to serve a purpose. Most of the panics during the last 72 years have occurred under Republican administrations. That of 1873, which was the worst until the present one, came during the Grant regime.

There were periods of mild depression under Republican administrations until 1893, when another serious panic came. It was not due to Cleveland, for it struck before Cleveland was seated in his chair and before he or his party had been able to do anything. It was hurrying along during the last years of the Harrison Republican administration, and it is now historically known that Harrison and Foster, his Secretary of the Treasury, sat with bated breath toward the close, hoping it would not strike until Cleveland took office.

That panic, however, was put down as a Cleveland or Democratic panic.

No one believes today that Cleveland was in any way responsible.

* * *

Panic of 1907 Was Under G. O. P. Rule

Then came the money panic of 1907, which was far more serious than most of us were permitted to know. It carried some rather dreadful possibilities. All over the land banks took advantage of the right to pay out on any one day only a certain proportion of a depositor's money. President Roosevelt was forced to sit down with John Pierpont Morgan, who drove a hard bargain on the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company as a condition for saving the situation.

That was under a Republican administration.

Then came the mild depression after the war—which everyone whose brains would not rattle in a mustard seed knows was inevitable. It was just after the war factories had shut down and turned their workers out, and the demobilization of the army added a great many to the unemployed. It was the depression of the period of readjustment to peace conditions, and it had no political significance whatever. No one honestly says it had.

* * *

Hoover Campaign Acme of Sheer Bunk.

Four years ago this old fraud about "Republican administrations meaning prosperity and Democratic administrations panic" was used aggressively. It was largely a whispering campaign—for Mr. Hoover's campaign was largely that sort. Agents were sent to the small business men in a certain section of New York City where Smith had a large personal following to warn them that the election of Smith would be bad for business.

Meanwhile, Mr. Hoover was gravely assuring the nation that his party had put the business of the country on the basis of permanent prosperity, that his election would mean "high wages and handsome dividends," and that because of the genius of Harding and Coolidge statesmanship, we were entering upon the "elimination of poverty."

Nothing in the way of sheer bunk has ever surpassed that campaign.

At Elizabethtown, Tenn., Mr. Hoover said that prosperity or depression was a matter of government, and the implication was quite clear.

* * *

Present Depression Explodes G. O. P. Claim

Now, under Mr. Hoover, we have the most devastating panic the nation has ever known, with more human misery than any one living has ever seen, and it has lasted throughout his administration. We need not expand upon the theme. There are the facts. Look out the window and you can see them.

Under the circumstances no Republican speaker not utterly bereft of a sense of humor will have the temerity to haul out the "full dinner pail" or to tell the people that a Democratic victory would mean a panic.

Nothing could be worse than what we have.

* * *

"Fit to Govern" Bunk Also Hit

There is another piece of buncombe that has served for many years—"The Republican party is the only party fit to govern." It would require a lot of hardihood, under existing conditions, to reiterate that statement now. Our present plight has been partly brought about and made infinitely worse than it might have been by the governing of the Republican party.

It is fair to say we do not think the wisest men in the Republican party are at the helm. But the men at the helm who have shown such marked ineptitude in statesmanship, such lack of vision and courage, such deficiency in constructive capacity, have been endorsed by the party which is asking the people to continue these failures at the helm for four years more.

With 10 million jobless, 30 million farmers bankrupt, banks closed, bankruptcies in business, an appalling deficit in the Treasury, unprecedented taxes, the smug assurance that "the Republican party is the only party fit to govern" would seem silly to the average man.

We shall hear less of that than usual this campaign.

We shall always cherish as a piece of rare humor the oversmug question submitted by Charles Evans Hughes from the stump four years ago to a New York audience:

"Would you entrust the business of the country to a Democrat?"

Well, the people did not.

Then entrusted the business of the country to Mr. Hoover and his associates.

And look at business now—if you can find it.

* * *

Whispering, Too, Out of Fashion

Four years ago there was much whispering.

That regarding religion is out of fashion now. We shall hear little of that.

But there was whispering, too, regarding prohibition. They whispered to liberals in New York and Jersey that Mr. Hoover's proposed commission was Mr. Hoover's way out of getting rid of prohibition. "Leave it to Hoover"—in a whisper.

That is out of the question now. His position is plain. His party's position can be read in its platform. And the Democrat position in its platform.

Thus there is not much left to talk about but real things and if real things are talked about the campaign will be worth while. Life is too serious with most of us today to make flippant claptrap tolerable.

You hear it and read it everywhere. And lots of girls wail that they don't even meet any nice convenient saps, and demand to know "why a girl can't invite a man out to dinner or the theater, just as he might invite her."

* * *

As a matter of fact, there isn't any law in the land that prevents a girl from inviting a man to take her out. But, alas, there isn't any law in NATURE that prevents him from resenting it.

* * *

Society isn't going to throw a girl out on her ear because she does the pursuing or the wooing. But the man, alas, IS — and DOES.

It was not society or the law or any delicate conventions that made the caveman pursue his lady-love, and pursue her the more ardently, the harder she ran away. It was just the perversity of masculine nature, which wants anything that is just out of reach, and prefers the woman who is trying to elude him to the one who is trying to catch him.

* * *

Why the Lord made men that way nobody knows, and nobody can tell you. But they have been that way ever since Adam grabbed the apple from Eve. It isn't mid-Victorian; it isn't medieval. It's primeval and aboriginal.

* * *

As a matter of fact, the girl of the gay nineties had a far better chance to "go after" a man—and did it far more effectively—than the free, untrammeled girl of today. But she did it in a roundabout and less obvious way.

* * *

She did not have to invite him to take her out to dinner; because she had a HOME. And she could always get mother or father or brother to invite him there for dinner, and help her feed him into semi-insensibility. And if THAT wasn't "going after him," what was it?

When people stayed at home and ate in big dining rooms instead of dinettes, the young and eligible male could be courted so casually and subtly that he didn't know what was happening to him, until he found himself facing the altar.

* * *

The modern girl, who believes in being brave and frank and honest, would scorn those methods as sneaky and degrading. But they WORKED! And is it any more "sneaky and degrading" to go fishing than to go hunting?

* * *

No! A man is not like a deer. You don't get anything by stalking him with a gun. He's like a fish. And you have to catch him with BAIT!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Cabaret life has been skimmed to "clip-joints," where patronage is solely strangers in town and gentlemen on the loose. They take the form of shady dance halls, side street speak-easies, cellar dives. Their safety is in the victim's fear of being dubbed a sucker.

The connection between gyp taxi drivers and such resorts is obvious. And freedom from arrest indicates protection. The driver suggests he knows a quiet place where the booze is "O. K." For this recommendation he gets 10 per cent of whatever is spent.

An added lure is a winging suggestion that "there is always a good looking dame or so about." Once inside, the "dames" flock to the victim, flattering him into buying. The catch is in the check addition. The amount depends upon the befuddlement of the customer.

A squawk is handled with underworld psychology. Beetle-browed bouncers appear in a snarling manner. "What's the big idea? Trying to be a cheap skate with these little ladies?" And so on. Just when a free-for-all is in prospect, the manager comes over.

He wants to know, and with suavity, what's it all about. Certainly no one gets anything but fair treatment in his "jeernt." He waves the hired pug-uglies away and is all sympathy. In the end a check for $200, which should be no more than $10, is settled for $50.

* * *

Starkly gripping phrases hurtle out of the tight-lipped underworld. There is the story of the gangster whose pal was riddled to death in a warehouse foray. The escaping gangster circled about to telephone the head mobsman. "Jim," he explained, "has just gone cool on us."

* * *

There are, too, various stories as to the origin of the greeting, "Hello, sucker!" generally credited to Texas Guinan. It became well known along Broadway about 10 years ago, yet Arthur Somers Roche, the novelist, was waggishly addressing intimates thus 20 years ago. Just as he does today.

A depression attraction of public parks and street carnivals, this summer, was the Mouse Circus. Concessionaires, with thin bank rolls, herded together several hundred mice and charged five cents admission to see them. Placed in an inclosure with a few runways and revolving wheels, the mice, with no training whatever, put on an act chock-full of unexpected comedy.

I read this morning, George Eliot assumed this pseudonym because it was mouth-filling. "One has to roll it around and push it out," she told a friend. Vicki Baum's name suggests the premature explosion of a firecracker. Then there is E. Sackville West, a writer. I always think of as a tailor. You know, sack coat and vest.

* * *

Names invariably stir inane fancies. I've often wondered if Ben Ali Haggin ever met Achmed Abdullah, if Ricardo Cortez knows Jose Rodiquez or Vincent Lopez, Lupe Velez. Nor can I think of two dandier entrants for a foot race than Keats Speed and Serge Flash. I once thought a swell head-line was one I turned out for a pink sport extra in Cincinnati, reading: "Hug in a Neat Squeeze." But a sober-sided copy desk, with customary and damnable dubiety, changed it to "Huggins' Trick Puts Reds in Lead." And I went back to what was known as the "hotel and undertaker run."

On the staff, in those days, was a theological student turned journalist. His first assignment was a gasolene stove explosion in the suburb of Mt. Auburn, seriously burning a housewife. He briefed the essentials in the first sentence and whirled off into a rhapsody, thus: "When, O, when will women of this fair land learn the danger of a lighted match near gasolene?"

A New York psychiatrist tells me, the majority of insane persons superscribe messages on backs of envelopes after sealing them for the mails. I'll go along quietly. And don't mind my talking to myself along the way.

* * *

For years, I've refused to read newspapers before getting out of bed. This morning I broke the rule, and the first thing was a gloomy interview of a man who said life was too big for him. I immediately decided it was for me, too, so rolled over and slept until noon.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I never know
Which I am—or
What I want to be—
Bad or good.

When I'm with Good people,
I want to be good.
I go through all
The good notions.
I'm filled with
Visions and ecstasies
And holy heartbreaks.
I love God
And my neighbor,
And I want to Save the world!
I'd do anything
To save the world.
I'd be burned,
Or crucified,
Live in poverty,
I'd do anything
To save the world.

Of course I know
It's partly conceit—
I realize I'm getting
A kick out of seeing Myself as a savior—
But it's honest, too,
I really want
To be good.
And yet,
Right the next minute,
If I'm with bad people,
Exciting bad people,
I flop clean around
And think badness is swell!
I feel it's gorgeous
To be reckless—
I thrill with flame
And whoop with joy at
The impudent exploits
Of some Bad Baby—
And decide to be
A tough guy myself.

Isn't that amazing?
When I'm with
Good people, sinners
Burn me up—
But when I'm with Sinners, saints give me
A pain in the neck!
Yet I'm honest
Both times!

How can that be?
How can I like
Both kinds of people?
Maybe it's because
I am both kinds!

Maybe it's because
I'm alive—and hungry—
Hungry to be things,
Hungry to know things,
Hungry for Truth—
And Truth is Where you find it,
And you find it
Everywhere.
Is that the answer?
It that
The way I am?
Is that the way
Everybody is?
I BET IT IS!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You blame the young people for what you call their "easy ways" and the subjects they discuss in mixed code.

But you are not so careful yourself as you once were in your talk.

Your manner with the opposite sex is more free and easy than formerly.

The stories you tell and listen to with interest and amusement are a bit "shady."

You never heard your parents talk as you do and as your crowd does.

It would have surprised you if your parents had assumed the manner you do with the opposite sex, and still you can't understand the youth of today.

Before you censure the young folk be a little more careful yourself.

You excuse yourself, feeling that you are older, hence have more rights.

But the example you set influences very surely.

You are married and the young people look to you, naturally.

They hear a lot about the old fogies and perhaps they never thought of applying that word to you.

You have seemed to them a good sport and quite all right.

So if you are too free and easy they can see no harm in following your example and they are mighty quick to discover your little failings in that direction.

Text For Today But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.—Isaiah, xl:31.

(Today's text is suggested by the Rev. Herbert M. Carnahan, pastor, North End Methodist Episcopal Church, North Side.)

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Define the word in blackface in each line:

1. The agreement was not ratified.
2. Twenty per cent ad valorem.
3. The voluminous nature of the correspondence.
4. A light fawn suit.
5. The initiative taken by the government.

Do you know:

6. What is one of the most important by-products of coal?
7. What region in the United States produces the greatest amount of oil?
8. What does hydroelectric power mean?
9. What is pig iron?
10. Who was the inventor of the first commercially practicable steamboat?
11. Who was Ceres?
12. What is a dais?
13. How is the date of Easter settled?
14. Why is certain earthenware called "faience?"
15. What is a male goose called?

Answers to today's tests:

1. Formally approved. 2. On the invoiced value. 3. Bulky. 4. Light yellowish brown. 5. The introductory step. 6. Coke. 7. Section around Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas; California. 8. ISN'T IT SO?

Every procession must end.

The moon does not grow full in a day.

Joy like the ague has one good day between two bad ones.

He who says what he likes, hears what he doesn't like.

You must run to win the race.

Better a paid porkchop than a turkey on tick.
